

SENATE GAG ASSURES COURT

ACT TO SHIELD TROLLEY BONDS; CRISIS NEARING

Form Committee to Protect Securities.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

That the Chicago traction situation is approaching a crisis with expiring franchises and relief apparently gone, was the information yesterday that a protective committee is being formed to safeguard the interests of the security holders of the surface lines.

The proposed agreement is being drawn and the entire plan of organization probably will be outlined within a few days.

It is understood that the First Trust & Savings bank, the Harris Trust & Savings bank and probably the Illinois Merchants bank will have a prominent part in the formation of the protective committee, but apparently they think publicity now is premature.

Wetmore Declines to Talk.

Frank O. Wetmore, chairman of the board of the First Trust & Savings bank, declined to discuss the matter. A. W. Harris of the bank bearing his name had just returned from New York. In reply to the reporter's inquiry he sent word by his secretary that he had heard a little about the subject in New York and desired local information before replying.

Franchisees of the companies owning the Surface Lines expire in a few days and a week from today. On Jan. 27, 1927, the bonds—more than $100,000,000—fall due, and while the street car systems in the United States they will not be able to pay off their funded debt.

Then a receivership is inevitable for some of the companies and probably will be sought by others. If no agreement has been reached on a new franchise arrangement, in that event, a receivership is considered the best means of conserving the interests of persons who have invested millions in the properties.

Will Act to Protect Holders.

The protective committee will attempt to reach an agreement among the bondholders as to their course of action when the due date of the bonds arrives. It will also be the purpose of the committee to decide upon preliminary action to safeguard the interests of the security holders.

Furthermore, the protective committee will be an answer to the criticism of Mayor Dwyer, who has said that he would negotiate with persons in view to decide. This committee will approach more closely the mayor's desire than any other plan.

Not an agreement may not be reached in the city, although there appeared to be a prospect of action there reaching a spring vacation, a summer session and a fall vacation last year.

Senator Hull, Henry A. Blair and J. A. Busby of the elevated and street car committee and told what they thought should be done. That is the status of the situation at present, no presumption surface lines deemed it prudent to take the preliminary steps to protect their investors.

Investors are a substantial number. Guy A. Richardson, vice president of the Surface Lines, in the survey of the Association of Commerce last November wrote: "The Surface Lines of Chicago represent an actual investment of $162,000,000 and they are not to be reproduced, as of this date, for a sum in excess of $200,000,000. Improvement in plant has cost $100,000,000 since 1903."

Blair and Busby Say "No."

Without a protective committee, a minority and disgruntled bondholder might cause enormous difficulty with the franchisees, unless there is a receivership. When and if that comes, the car riders will be the losers. Both Mr. Blair and Mr. Busby have been asked by the local transportation committee if they will recommend the terms and conditions of a receivership, which are contained in the present franchisees. Both have answered "No."

They have indicated that there will be no agreement on page 4, column 13.

U. S. HASN'T AND CAN'T DRY U. S., MELLON ADMITS

Officials Back Him; Put It Up to States.

Find a Distillery

A federal raid yesterday on a big warehouse, in Lumber street near 22d street, revealed a full fledged distillery with an output of 3,000 gallons of alcohol a day. It has been operating for a year without previous interruption. Officials estimate that this plant has been clearing $99,000 a week, selling its alcohol at $7 a gallon.

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Three of the highest federal officials charged with enforcement of prohibition virtually threw up their hands today and declared in effect that the national government cannot dry up the nation.

Federal machinery is not sufficient to enforce the Volstead law, these government authorities pointed out, and the only hope now lies in state co-operation.

The three officials who made known their views were headed by Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and the ranking officer over the government's dry forces. The next in rank to him, Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, and the United States prosecuting attorney in New York, Henry R. Buckner, both joined in the admission that the Washington government has not and cannot, under existing conditions, dry up the country.

Put Up to Public.

Mr. Mellon disclosed his views in an interview in Collier's Weekly. He announced for the first time since enactment of the Volstead law that the national government has put its enforcement up to local public opinion.

"Centralization of administration of enforcement in Washington has ceased," he declares. "The Washington force has been reduced from more than 700 to about 300 as a result."

"Under the reorganization by which 24 federal judicial groups have been made the geographical units for prohibition enforcement, local opinion has a chance to make itself felt. Now at last we shall see what public opinion will do for enforcement."

Officials Address Pastors.

Andrews and Buckner asserted themselves frankly in addressing several hundred ministers at a meeting under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon league.

"Put not your trust in the United States government for enforcement," Mr. Buckner said. "It has not the machinery and, as far as I can see, I stand alone and without encouragement in urging the adoption of the machinery required. Gen. Andrews is all dressed up and has no place to go. He can't enforce prohibition under existing conditions. So I say, get a state enforcement act."

"Your own representatives [Anti-Saloon league] in Washington are afraid to go after actual enforcement because they are afraid to let it become known what such enforcement would cost. They fear they would lose 'moral ground.'"

U. S. Can't Enforce.

"I consider myself the attorney for the people of this district. As such I shall tell my clients the facts, as well as give them my opinions. These facts are:

"1. The United States government has not substantially enforced prohibition throughout the country.

"2. The United States government will not substantially enforce prohibition throughout the country.

"The trouble is with the court machinery. Unless things are radically changed prohibition enforcement is a physical impossibility. Stop talking about the merits of prohibition and talk about how actually to bring about prohibition through enforcement."

"Just a Policeman"—Andrews.

At the conclusion of Mr. Buckner's address Gen. Andrews arose and shook his hand vigorously.

"The obstacle to my work lies just where Mr. Buckner has put it," Gen. Andrews said. "You think it is up to me to enforce prohibition. I cannot do it. I am only a policeman. I have had to tell my people to stop making general arrests and to hook up with the district attorneys and find out whom to arrest."

Two resolutions were adopted by the ministers. One urged padlocks for "places which are patronized only by those of social standing as well as of wealth." The other called upon the state legislature to pass a state prohibition enforcement act.

Senate Court Debate Over WGN Tonight

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Over the radio, four of the chief proponents and opponents of the world court in the United States senate will take their arguments direct to the people in the next two nights in one of the most important debates of the century—Shall America Enter the World Court?

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has arranged with the American Telephone and Telegraph company for broadcasting over W-G-N a discussion of this most momentous question by four distinguished senators who are playing a prominent part in the controversy at the Capitol. Each side of the question will be represented by a leading Republican and Democrat, and for two nights the great invisible audience will receive at first hand the argument now raging at Washington. It will be an understandable presentation of this great issue.

W-G-N to Broadcast.

The debate will occur tonight and tomorrow night, between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock, Chicago time, over station W-G-N.

The four United States senators who are to present their views are William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], James A. Reed [Dem., Mo.], and Irving L. Lenroot [Rep., Wis.].

Senators Lenroot and Walsh are the leaders in the fight for America's entry into the world court, while Senators Borah and Reed are managing the forces opposing it.

Tonight at 8 o'clock (Chicago time) the air will be given to Senators Reed and Walsh. The latter's voice became a familiar one to radio audiences when he presided over the 1924 Democratic national convention in Madison Square Garden, New York.

Borah Opposes Lenroot.

Tomorrow night the debate will be between Senator Borah, the spectacular and eloquent leader of the opposition, and Senator Lenroot, who is directing the fight in behalf of the world court measure.

The debate, which is one of the most spectacular events ever presented on the air in the realm of political and national issues, offers the American public a chance to make up its own mind on the world court question, a simple presentation of both sides by the leaders in the great fight in the United States senate.

Tribune Leaves Wires.

To make the debate possible THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has leased 2,000 miles of telephone lines. The senators will confer with the other side of the world court question in a Washington radio studio, and lines are being cut in across the country to bring their messages to station W-G-N. THE TRIBUNE's radio station on the Drake hotel, Chicago, where it will be broadcast.

Following the debate listeners will have opportunity to hear other celebrities on great topics of the day. Tonight James O'Donnell Bennett's digest of the world court question will be put on the air, and Wednesday night Floyd Gibbons, THE TRIBUNE's war correspondent, will give his story of his interview with President Coolidge.

Radio listeners will have a chance to register their reaction to the debate on the world court between the four United States senators arranged by THE TRIBUNE. On this page is a blank whereon one may denote what his views were before listening in, and what they are at the end of the discussion by the great leaders on either side. Send them in to the radio editor of THE TRIBUNE.

Fire Damages Oak Park Episcopal Parish House

Fire in the parish house of Grace Episcopal church, 224 West Lake street, Oak Park, late last night caused damage of several thousand dollars and for a time threatened the church itself. The flames started in the music room of the parish house, a two story stucco building connected with the church at the rear, and quickly spread to the roof.

John Magnovich, a watchman for the Hausler Lumber company, 3457 Ewing avenue, and his friend, Ruda Kartovich, 2449 Ewing avenue, got into a quarrel over conditions in the old country early this morning in the office of the lumber company. Magnovich fired one shot, killing Kartovich instantly.

TEST VOTE FOR U. S. ENTRY WITH RESERVATIONS

Debate Shut Off to Hasten Decision.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The senate will vote the United States into the world court within the next two or three days. This became a foregone conclusion today when, by a vote of 65 to 26, it limited debate on the world court resolution. The cloture motion won by a margin of four votes over the necessary two-thirds, and there will be not less than 70 votes, or six over the requisite two-thirds, cast for the world court resolution on its final passage.

The entrance of the United States into the court, however, will be so hedged about with the reservations conceded by the pro-court leaders at the eleventh hour that it will be regarded widely as a meaningless gesture.

Borah Sees League Move.

"The proponents of the court are now willing to accept a reservation providing that no cause involving the United States shall be submitted to the court, without the express consent of the senate in the form of ratification of a treaty to submit the controversy," said Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho], leader of the opposition, tonight.

"That is exactly what we could do at any time without becoming a member of the court. But by putting us into the court they tie us up with the league of nations, and that is what the court proponents have aimed at all along."

The cloture rule limits each speaker to one hour. Every senator, if he cares to, has the right to speak for this length of time. The rule also limits the subject of debate to the world court and the senator will have to keep on that subject until it is disposed of. Speeches on any reservation or amendment come under the time limitation.

Fears Cloture Precedent.

The motion to limit debate was voted after a tense hour of speeches and frantic efforts by Senator Harrison [Dem., Miss.] to effect a unanimous consent agreement on a date to vote on the court measure without invoking cloture. With a vision of a future force bill put upon the south by cloture, Senator Harrison was filled with grave forebodings of the precedent his southern Democratic colleagues were about to establish in consenting to shut off debate.

He was on his feet pleading to avert cloture when Senator Borah declared it was too late and Senator Bruce [Dem., Miss.] refused the consent Harrison sought. A few seconds later Vice President Dawes put the cloture motion under the provision of rule 23 and the roll was called with the following result:

FOR CLOTURE.

Republicans: Borah, Capper, Cummins, Curtis, Deneen, Edge, Ernest, Fannin, Gifford, Gooding, Hale, Jones [Wash.], Keyes, Lenroot, McKinley, McLean, McPherson, Norris, Odell, Phillips, Schall, Shortridge, Standish, Tamm, Underwood, Warren, Willis—27.

DEMOCRATS.

Ashurst, Borah, Burton, Capper, Bruce, Caraway, Edwards, Ferris, Fletcher, Gurnea, Gerry, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Hendon, Jones [N.M.], Kendrick, King, McCallister, Mayfield, Neely, Overman, Pittman, Randall, Robert [Ark.], Sheppard, Simmons, Swanson, Tamm, Tamm, Underwood, Walsh—26.

behalf of Senator Du Pont that he is in and if present would vote for closure.

Sensors Smith, [Rep., S. C.] and Brownson [Dem., La.], who voted against closure, will vote for the cloture resolution on final passage. Another vote for the cloture, presumably, will be cast by Senator Copeland.

Just before the roll was called a new reservation was offered by Senator Moses [Rep., N. H.], an opponent of the cloture resolution. The reservation, which attracted much attention at the time of its significance, provided:

"That the adherence of the United States is conditional upon the understanding and agreement that the judgments, decrees, and advisory opinions of the court shall not be enforced by war under any name or in any form whatever."

As soon as the adoption of the cloture motion was announced the senate settled itself to a discussion of the world court resolution and proposed reservations. It was unanimously agreed that the Vice President might deputize the secretary of the senate to be the timekeeper.

Holds Reid Motion Disfavored.

Senator Reid [Dem., Mo.] endeavored to procure an adjournment soon after the roll call and also on appeal from the ruling of the Vice President that a motion to adjourn and roll call thereon was disfavored under the circumstances.

Essentially the senate got back onto the world court, with Senator Smith, who had voted against closure, making a speech in favor of joining the court. Senator Ferguson [Rep., Mo.] had a letter from former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana read. Mr. Beveridge condemned the court and took the position that it should be only a court of last resort.

The letter made Senator Watson [Rep., Ind.] somewhat restive. Senator Watson, a candidate for re-election and Mr. Beveridge, it seems, is still a possible candidate against him for the nomination, despite an announcement last week indicating that the former senator would not enter the race. Senator Watson has been allied with the pro-court forces, but today he broke away on the cloture roll, causing some to think he might vote against the court eventually.

Watson Aids Information.

At any rate, Senator Watson leaped into the limelight with a series of critical questions put to Senator Walsh [Dem., Mont.] on the meaning of various provisions, including the one by which the United States would have seven votes in the election of world court judges.

"I don't see why the Irish Free State is not as competent to elect judges as is Haiti," Senator Swanson [Dem., Va.] ejaculated.

Sensor Walsh waxed wrathful in defense of the British dominions having votes in the election of judges and criticized Senator Watson on his eleventh hour misgivings on the matter.

"You are either for the court or against it," was the significant utterance he finally flung at the Hoosier.

Mr. Watson, whose time was being consumed by several senators one after another, finally took his seat, merely observing that he had been greatly entertained.

Expects Final Vote Today.

The discussion ended for the day at 4:30 p. m., without a vote having been taken on any of the amendments or reservations proposed. [Senator Lenroot [Rep., Wis.], leader of the pro-court forces, thought the world court resolution would be adopted, and the whole fight over by tomorrow night. Senator Borah thought the end would come Wednesday.]

Senate Foes of Entry in World Court Die Fighting Hard at Cloture Gate

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Fierce debate and dazzling maneuvers by three of the most forceful speakers and formidable parliamentarians in the United States—Robinson of Arkansas, Reed of Kansas and Hiram Johnson of California—were packed into record of the momentous hour which ended today with the senate's significant vote to enforce cloture on the world court debate.

Long before noon the senate galleries are packed, and in the corridors outside are hundreds of men and women hoping to gain admission.

Only Two Senate Absentees.

The senate floor is lined two deep on three sides with privileged official persons. Again the widow of President Wilson and the daughter of President Roosevelt are almost side by side in the honor gallery, the first a supporter, the second an opponent of world court.

Every one of the 96 senators but two is in his seat. Du Pont [Rep., Del.] is ill and absent; Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] is merely absent.

Hiram Johnson, tense with sense of outrage that Senator Swanson's drastically amended resolution on world court entry has only now come, as he puts it, "to the desks of senators," is one moment earnestly drawing tiny diagrams on a sheet of white paper and the next moment glaring as earnestly at Robinson, Democratic leader of the senate, who is hammering out accusation and warning.

Vice President Dawes is in the chair and on time to the second. At noon precisely the gavel falls.

"Resumed" Session.

As this is a resumed session after a recess and not a new session after an adjournment there is no prayer nor any of the usual formalities of general business. World court is the sole business.

Instantly Robinson and Lenroot [Rep., Wis.] and Reed are on their feet. Lenroot presents recent American Legion and Southern Baptist conference resolutions in favor of world court. Reed objects to the reading of them. He wants his "certified copies of the protocol and statute of the world court," which he is demanding on Saturday, "so that the senate may officially know what it is voting this country into."

Soon he gets them, for a senate functionary suddenly calls: "A message from the President." The certified copies have come. Everybody is very nervous. There is much movement and a hum of voices.

Fernald of Maine cries out irritably in behalf of Robinson who has begun to speak: "Mr. President, cannot we have order here?" and Robinson roars: "Yes, Mr. President, let senators and their guests who are not interested in the world court debate, and whose I do not care to engage in a competition with conversation."

Robinson flinches for Cloture.

No senator, no guest retreats, but order reigns.

In the name of his thirty Democratic colleagues who are for cloture on further world court debate, and whose leader he is, Robinson is pleading for cloture.

"Proponents of world court," he is saying, "have been more than patient—they have been liberal—with the opposition. Now we feel that we can invoke cloture, both as a privilege under the rules of the senate and as a duty."

"It is neither unfair, nor oppressive, nor in the interest of bad government."

for those who favor a proposition to insist upon a decision concerning it.

"This proposition has been discussed in every newspaper and in almost every magazine in the country. Two Presidents have recommended adoption of the world court treaty with reservations. . . . I have been forced to this resolution because the opponents of this resolution do not want more time for debate, but wish to involve the senate in such a parliamentary situation that the vote must be indefinitely postponed."

"Once you lay aside the resolution, the opponents of it have accomplished their purpose. For days they have whined pitifully about their wish to speak, and spoken they have, but I observed that when one of them had finished he had the greatest difficulty in getting another to take his place."

Senator Robinson laughs away Senator Johnson's recent charges on the floor that the senate is being subjected to menacing propaganda by world court advocates. "Why," he exclaims, "you would think it was a crime for a woman's club or a church organization to pass resolutions urging the senate to vote for the world court. The senator from California said nothing about the Ku Klux Klan, which is, as he is, against the court. But the Ku Klux Klan has the same right as has a church organization to voice its views and make its plea—but it has no more."

"And now we have in this senate the amazing spectacle of the senator from Missouri, who once favored liberalized immigration laws, which the Klan opposes, now advancing sheeted and hooded and with firm step in his world court opposition, with the king kleege of the Klan on one arm and its grand dragon on the other."

This jibe inflames Reed, who heatedly denies any connection with or knowledge of the wishes of the Ku Klux Klan, saying:

"When the senator says that I think this or that he gets it out of his imagination."

"I don't think God Almighty himself knows what the senator from Missouri thinks."

The quickly hushed laughter which greets this jibe encourages Senator Johnson to refer to the "brainstorm" of Hiram Johnson in his impassioned denunciation of world court propaganda.

"The seconds are flying to one o'clock, when the vote of cloture must come, and the badinage is driving Senator Johnson wild. It is a quarter to one when he leaps to his feet and shouts across to Robinson: 'I ask the senator if in spirit of fairness he will at six minutes to one give me six minutes by the clock?'"

Robinson grants the request, and on the second Johnson takes the floor. "Brainstorm," he begins, "relative in character and I leave to the determination of this body just what a brainstorm is, and just who has brainstorms."

Johnson's Last Stand.

Robinson has been skillful in eating the heart out of the one hour the senate has left to it for consideration of the world court debate, and whose I do not care to engage in a competition with conversation."

"Mr. President," he says, "it is true I did cry out against the propaganda that has been going on in this country, the propaganda that I insisted had misled good men and good women all over this land in respect to this world court, and, if it were justification and demonstration of what I said about misleading propaganda, it is found in senate resolution No. 5, presented last Saturday afternoon by the senator from Virginia [Mr. Swanson]."

What Johnson means by this some what cryptic reference is that the original Swanson world court entry resolution has now at the eleventh hour been substantially modified in order to gain waviness to the world court cause.

Insists on False Propaganda.

He briefly hammers that thought home:

"The propaganda that has gone all over this land, into every church, every woman's organization, practically every school, was this 'in the sacred name of peace, enter the world court. Enter it with the Harding-Hughes-Coolidge reservations.' That was the propaganda that I said was indeed false in fact. Here is its demagogic outburst of the mouth of the gentlemen on the other side who represent those who desire to go into the world court."

As for cloture, some may believe in it. He never does, and he adds this specific denunciation:

"In this particular instance it is the most unfair thing that was ever foisted upon a deliberative body. The motion for cloture is that 'debate on the pending measure' be brought to a close."

"The pending measure? What was it? Was it this? [He means the amended Swanson world court entry resolution]. Not a bit of it."

Reinforced by Reed.

He angrily tells the senators that copies of the drastically amended resolution "come to the desks of senators at 12 o'clock this day, and only at 12 o'clock this day, and without one single word of explanation from the senator from Virginia [Swanson]."

Reed swiftly interrupts to reinforce Johnson, and says:

"The senator is mistaken. The resolution did not come here at 12 o'clock. It came less than five minutes ago."

Reed swiftly interrupts to reinforce Johnson, and says:

"Forecast," shouts Johnson. "Then why was it not presented? Why is it not presented? Why is it not presented?—you on the other side of this question—that you answer to a bill being brought in here at 12 o'clock of one day and cloture being put upon it at one o'clock of the same day? What sort of fairness is that? I appeal to you, establish no such precedent!"

The voice of Vice President Dawes breaks in on Johnson. The hour hand of the gold starred clock is pointing to one. The hour of the vote on the proposed to enforce cloture has come. Johnson has lost his fight. But he has lived a crowded six minutes of life.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Illinois' rival candidates for the Republican senatorial nomination, Senator William B. McKinley and Frank L. Smith, chairman of the G. O. P. state committee, heated the telephone wires between Washington and Chicago yesterday in a sharp exchange of messages over the outstanding issue between them—adherence to the world court.

Mr. Smith last Saturday interpreted a publicity statement from McKinley, who is committed to the court, as a challenge to debate the issue before the voters of Illinois. He sent a message to the senator accepting the challenge.

McKinley is Soreless.

Senator McKinley replied yesterday in a long telegram, declaring: "I note you have invited yourself to a public debate and promptly accepted your own challenge." He asked upon what reservations Mr. Smith would favor enacting the court.

Declaring that Senator McKinley omitted to state whether he meant his statement as a challenge or not, Smith sent this report to the senator:

"Why not get down to the issue without evasion? You directly challenged me. Deny your challenge, make good, or back up."

Commenting on the senate vote for cloture on the world court resolution yesterday Mr. Smith said he still had hope that the senate "will not vote into the league of nations court."

But if we are voted in Illinois needs without evasion. The next logical step by the court proponents, entrance into the league itself, he declared.

Queries Put to Smith.

Senator McKinley in his message to Mr. Smith said:

"You immediately exclude the only subject which can be considered debatable—namely: reservations to our entering a world court of arbitration."

"You stated in your printed platform, which you published when you started your campaign, that you favored some reservations as conditions precedent to our entering the world court."

"You carefully have avoided stating the reservations which you would favor. The voters of Illinois probably would be interested to know whether you now are opposed to the creation of any tribunal of international justice to promote peace in the world, and, if so, then you should tell them whether the statement in your platform was more accurate when you said you were in favor of such a court with reservations which they had a right to assume you would at some time publicly declare."

Clue G. O. P. Platform.

"I have assumed you were a Republican standing on the Republican platform. Also that you are in favor of the settlement of international controversies by some method other than open warfare."

"Our Republican national convention at Cleveland, to which you were a delegate; the American Legion, whose leadership we must feel it safe to follow; the American Federation of Labor, the women's national organizations, the national chamber of commerce, and a score of other secular and religious bodies, have endorsed the world court and urged our nation to join with the other civilized nations of the world in adherence to that tribunal."

"President Coolidge and the Republican national convention have suggested certain reservations which I favor. What reservations do you favor? Your answer to this question would indicate whether there is any real difference of opinion on principle between us or whether you are simply seeking publicity and trying to find an issue for your campaign of which your manager has said you are in such dire need."

"You know the only basis of discussion would be the character of reservations which should be adopted, and if you have arrived at any conclusion as to what reservations you would favor, I will be glad to give consideration to your suggestions in that regard."

Frank Smith's Reply.

Following is Smith's statement:

"I still hope the senate will not vote up into the permanent court of the league of nations. But if the vote of the senate to invoke cloture is a prophetic of what will happen when the roll is called on the resolution of adherence, the Republican voters of Illinois should keep in mind that the real battle to preserve the independence of the United States has just begun."

"From the beginning of my campaign I have insisted that the effort to get up into the court was but the first step toward setting up into the league of nations itself. I think every foreign commentator on the attitude of the United States has admitted this. Senator Bruce admitted it in his argument before the senate."

The Way to the League.

"It has been argued by many students of the statute of the permanent court of international justice that once on the court, the United States will have to go into the league to protect itself. To again urge us to join the league is the next logical step of all the propagandists for the court."

"The republican candidate for senator nominated in April will doubtless be elected and hold office six years. Within that time there is no doubt in my mind that the effort will be made again to put us into the league."

"Undoubtedly, also, the Democratic party will make another national campaign issue of adherence to the league. They will have in behalf of such a campaign the argument that we are already more than half way into the league, and that we will be moral cowards, shirking our obligation, if we do not go all the way in to enforce the findings of a court to which we adhere."

Prohibition agents, who have been distressed by the alcohol constantly reaching the market despite a relentless permit denouncing plantings and shipments, last night seized a five story illicit distillery on a street in the city.

The distillery, located on a street in the city, had been producing some three thousand gallons a day for over a year. It was admitted after the raid that the distillery had been operating since the Volstead act.

Following a review of records of the entire national prohibition department, Leo Donahue, chief agent in charge of the distillery, was arrested. He was charged with operating since the Volstead act.

The distillery, operated by Donahue, was a five story building, with a half block long, with complete facilities, truck delivery, a slip on the south branch Chicago river. All four floors were devoted to the manufacture of alcohol.

Equals Big Distillery.

An inventory of the equipment included the following:

One complete upright still, high, of the type heretofore only in the state of Illinois. Seven 5,000 gallon mash vats. Seven 300 gallon mash tanks. Five 500 gallon storage tanks. One 500 gallon heating tank. One 500 gallon receiving tank. One complete set of copper pipes. In addition, a large quantity of materials, including several cases of sugar were taken by the entrance to the still room in which the still was located. The still was ingeniously concealed in a fully equipped lavatory, which was swung around on a hidden table to open the doorway.

The office of the plant had been a room of the same building. A special agent, who was in charge of the raid, was in the room when the still was discovered. The still was ingeniously concealed in a fully equipped lavatory, which was swung around on a hidden table to open the doorway.

SHIPS IN STORM HINDER EUROPE'S NEW BROADCAST

Belgian Station Heard;
Sunday Troubles.

Distress calls from vessels at sea, again interrupted last night with the international radio tests.

As on Sunday night, all stations on the Atlantic seaboard were forced to shut down for three-fourths of the hour allotted for American broadcasting. During the period three Atlantic vessels were sending out S. O. S. calls in mid-ocean as a result of a terrific storm.

Continental European stations continued their broadcasts, but the few DX fans who heard them at all reported them as weak. Joe E. Maney, 445 Melrose street, Chicago, asserted that he heard SHB at Brussels sending out the Belgian national anthem at 10:10 p. m.

German Divided Over Song.

Berlin reported that there was adverse comment among the people following the announcement that the Hamburg station would broadcast "Deutschland Ueber Alles" as one of the features of the international tests.

Some of the republican Germans saw in the action a boost for the monarchist cause. The foreign office did not feel the situation serious enough to warrant interference.

Reception of European programs in the middle west was even worse than on Sunday. Chicagoans were less successful than fans in small cities and towns.

Smaller Towns Fare Better.

Yesterday The Tribune received several hundred letters from fans seeking certificates of confirmation of foreign broadcasts and a large percentage of them were from towns like Elgin, Rockford, Rock Island in Illinois, and Milwaukee, Madison, and Racine in Wisconsin.

The ability of the out of town fans to get distant reception denied to city listeners clearly demonstrates, according to radio experts, that the "bloopers" must go before reception in crowded areas is anywhere near perfect. A "bloop" is a fan who operates a regenerative set.

Many fans reported that just before the close of the silent hour conditions improved, and many of the letters received yesterday told of reception from London, Bournemouth, England, Cardiff, Wales, and Buenos Aires and Lima, South America, between 10:45 and 11 o'clock.

More Stations on Air.

Tonight the fan seeking foreign reception will have more stations on the air to hunt for. Sunday night the English stations were broadcasting, while last night continental European stations had the air. Tonight, however, both British and European stations will be broadcasting, and lucky fans may hear Germany, France, Spain, Belgium, and Czechoslovakia as well as the stations in England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales.

The European tests will wind up on Thursday night, and on Friday and Saturday American fans will be given an opportunity to log DX stations in North and South America. For these two night North America has been divided into sections and 15 minute tests will be put on by eastern, central, mountain, and Pacific coast stations. Friday night, and Canadian, northern United States, southern United States, and Mexican and Cuban stations Saturday night.

RADIO TO STRETCH SCOPE OF EYE AS FAR AS EAR, TESLA SAYS

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Application of radio principles will enable people, by carrying a small instrument in their pockets, to see distant events like the soccer of the magic crystal of fairy tales and legends, Nikola Tesla, electrical inventor, predicted today.

Mr. Tesla, who on several occasions has tried to communicate with the planet Mars, made his prediction in an interview published in the current issue of Collier's Weekly.

"We shall be able to witness the inauguration of a President, the playing of a world's series baseball game, the havoc of an earthquake or a battle just as though we were present," Mr. Tesla said.

"Perhaps the most valuable application of wireless energy will be the propulsion of flying machines subject to radio control. International boundaries will be largely obliterated and a great step will be made toward unification and harmonious existence of the nations."

Mr. Tesla also predicts that the world's internal heat will be tapped as a reservoir for industrial power.

Tesla, the subject of women in modern life, he prophesied they would assume dominance in the social order, relegating man to the position of the drone.

MEXICO STARTS DEBT FUNDING TO RESTORE CREDIT

BY JOHN CORMYLL
(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

(Copyright, 1925, by The Chicago Tribune.) Mexico City, Jan. 25.—The government today announced extensive plans to reestablish Mexican credit at home and abroad. The most important of these plans is the resumption of the payment of interest on the foreign debt through the Bank of Mexico here and J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York.

All petroleum taxes received by the government this year will be forwarded to the Morgan bank.

This action has done much to raise confidence in the government's stability.

Banks to Aid Merchants.

The government also has announced a movement to establish credit at home by founding a bank of popular credit, with branches throughout the republic, to encourage saving and help small merchants, traders, and manufacturers. It also will establish, it is said, a national agricultural bank to help small farmers, from whom the banks of Mexico have shut off all credit, because of the precarious condition of agriculture and the agrarian policy of the government in taking lands without providing means to pay for them.

These banks will work in conjunction with the national credit institutions and the Bank of Mexico.

To Cut Freight Rates.

Arrangements are being made between the government and stockholders of the Mexican National Railways, now a private concern, for readjustment of freight rates from the interior, so as to make it possible to bring rural products to city markets.

Millions of acres of the government's vacant lands will be offered to those willing to cultivate them. Government lands granted to individuals or companies, upon which taxes or the purchase price have not been paid, will be taken back by the government. Numerous Americans now holding government lands will lose them if they do not pay for them.

DIES SUDDENLY IN HOME.

Walter Sines, 55, 1804 West 45th street, died suddenly in his home yesterday. He had been drinking, it is said. An inquest will be held today.

ASKS CANADA BAR AGAINST BIG U. S. COAL SHIPMENTS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Imports which would bar United States coal from Canada and thus permit development of the dominion's Alberta and Cape Breton coal fields were urged upon parliament tonight by Arthur Meighen, conservative leader. Canada's coal bill with the United States is more than $100,000,000 annually.

The debate on the address and the Meighen amendment, which calls for protection from American agricultural products and coal, had to be postponed on a motion of L. W. Johnston, Cape Breton, conservative, to consider the "serious national matter" of Cape Breton miners starving because of unemployment.

"Y" SECRETARY FREED AS KRESS DEATH SUSPECT

Jackson Bedrie, a boy's secretary at the Laramie street Y. M. C. A., held in connection with the shooting to death of Martin Kress, 664 Blackhawk street, was released by the police yesterday.

"We are now fairly well convinced that Bedrie was in no way connected with the murder," said Capt. Thomas Condon, who asserted Kress probably was killed by two bandits.

On Saturday Bedrie had been fined $10 and costs on a charge of assault preferred by Kress, and an hour before Kress' body was found Bedrie had demanded a warrant for his arrest. The feud between Bedrie and Kress originated when Bedrie ejected Kress' 14 year old son, Andrew, from the Y. M. C. A.

BOMBER PLEADS GUILTY; FACES 1 TO 10 YEARS

Joseph Aveni, one of the first men arrested in the recent bombing investigation conducted by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph P. Savage, entered a plea of guilty yesterday before Judge Emanuel Eller. His trial was to have started yesterday, but Aveni suddenly changed his plea. Today he will be sentenced to 1 to 10 years.

The case involving Joseph Sangerman, alleged head of the bombing trust, are the next to be tried. Attorney Frank A. Comerford asked for a reassignment of his case, but when Judge Eller ruled against him, said that his client is too sick to stand trial.

CHICAGO VICTORY IN LONG FIGHT FOR PURE MILK

Elgin Dairymen Agree
Bundesen Edict

Chicago's battle for pure milk in complete victory yesterday. 1,000 dairy farmers, members of the Milk Producers' association, Elgin and voted to end the long controversy with Dr. Herman Bundesen, commissioner of health.

The farmers agreed to place herds of milk cattle under the milk test as soon as Gov. Bundesen funds already appropriated to cattle tuberculosis.

"Both the citizens of our city and the farmers are to be congratulated on this action," was the comment of Dr. Bundesen.

The influence group behind the tuberculosis test is that it will become standard that the city will have milk obtained in the country, and will profit in that their cattle produce more and better milk than other livestock will not tuberculosis from contact.

Plan Co-op. Marketing.

So that the dairymen will not financial losses through the imposed by Governor Bundesen on the tuberculosis test, a scheme cooperative marketing is to be set out by a special committee, agreed by the farmers at the meeting.

While no definite marketing was decided on, it was reported suggestions were made at the meeting, from which all outsiders were barred, to have all farmers with cattle sell to Chicago and other demanding the test. Thus many other communities would be left to those farmers as yet unable to pass the test.

Avoid Financial Ruin.

It was the prospect of financial ruin that stirred up most of the animosity toward Commissioner Bundesen's edict. It was agreed, a hope was expressed that in some way a way will be found for the milk with untested herds to pass the test. In order to share the benefits of this combine, however, it is necessary for the dairymen to agree to submit the complete test at the earliest date made possible by the state house policy.

Big Majority Favors.

The vote on the peace plan was 2,850 to 580, votes cast by representatives of forty of the Milk Producers' association. State Representative Frank J. Carthy, counsel for the producers, and a member of the committee appointed pure milk commission made a two-hour address, the meeting at which he sketched the entire situation. The farmers agreed that none of their cattle will be slaughtered unless the state and the United States inspectors certify to the value of the milk, and with this assurance the prices were enthusiastically satisfied.

Explains Farmers' Stand.

Mr. McCarthy has asserted that the milk dispute that has stood firmly for the dairymen but he combated any effort to the farmers into bankruptcy by off their cattle without any compensation. Mr. McCarthy was chairman of the committee to form cooperative marketing plan, and dairymen are also members.

The pure milk commission, headed by Dr. W. A. Evans, will hold a session today, at which its report will be submitted. It will urge the milk of tuberculosis tests along the line and will recommend that funds be provided by the state and federal governments to push the campaign to a successful end.

CHICAGO VICTOR IN LONG FIGHT FOR PURE MILK

Elgin Dairymen Agree to Bundesen Edict.

Chicago's battle for pure milk ended in complete victory yesterday when the Elgin dairymen, members of the Elgin Producers' association, met at Elgin and voted to end the long drawn-out controversy with Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, commissioner of health of Chicago.

The farmers agreed to place all their milk under the federal milk inspection test as soon as Gov. Small returns funds already appropriated to Elgin to test cattle tuberculosis.

Both the citizens of our city and the farmers are to be congratulated for this action," was the comment of Dr. Bundesen. "The influence of this action behind the tuberculosis test guarantee that it will become state-wide, and that the city will have the best milk obtainable in the country. Farmers will profit in that the cattle will produce more and better milk, and in that other livestock will not become contaminated from contact."

Plan Co-op. Marketing.
It was the dairymen will not suffer financial losses through the delays caused by Governor Small upon the return of funds toward completion of the tuberculosis test, a scheme of co-operative marketing is to be worked out by a special committee. It was agreed by the farmers at the Elgin meeting.

While no definite marketing plan was decided on, it was reported that negotiations were made at the meeting, from which all outsiders were barred, to have all farmers with tested cattle sell to Chicago and other cities surrounding the test. Thus markets in other communities would be left open to those farmers as yet unable to obtain the test.

Avoid Financial Ruin.
It was the prospect of financial ruin that drove up most of the farmers' animosity toward Commissioner Bundesen's edict. It was agreed, and the hope was expressed that in some manner a way will be found for the dairymen with untasted herds to market their milk. Mr. McCarthy Favors.
The vote on the peace plan was favorable by 2,880 to 580, votes being cast by representatives of forty localities of the Milk Producers' association. The representative Frank A. McCarthy, counsel for the producers' organization, and a member of the recently appointed pure milk commission made a two hour address before the meeting at which he sketched the milk situation. The farmers were assured that none of their diseased cattle will be slaughtered unless the state and the United States together pay two-thirds of the value of the animal, and with this assurance the dairymen were enthusiastically satisfied.

Explains Farmers' Stand.
Mr. McCarthy has asserted throughout the milk dispute that his people stand firmly for the tuberculosis test, but he combated any effort to force the farmers into bankruptcy by killing off their cattle without any recompense.

Mr. McCarthy was named chairman of the committee to form the co-operative marketing plan. Bankers and dairymen are also members. The pure milk commission, headed by Dr. W. A. Evans, will hold a final session today, at which its report will be submitted. It will urge the making of tuberculosis tests along the lines of the program accepted by the farmers, and will recommend that funds be provided by the state and federal governments to push the campaign to a successful end.

THREE CONFESS NUSBAUM PLOT; WILL AID STATE

Grandma Eliza Nusbaum and her affinity, John Walton Winn, must stand trial together for the murder of Albert Nusbaum, husband of Grandma, who was killed because he stood in the way of her love affair.

Mrs. Delilah Martin, Marion Stringham and Edward Grant Goff, the co-defendants in the murder conspiracy, entered pleas of guilty yesterday before Judge Emanuel Eller in the Criminal court and announced that they will testify against the others.

Attorney Alfred O'Connor, representing Mrs. Martin, Goff, and Stringham after entering pleas of guilty for his clients, asked that sentence be suspended until after the trial of Mrs. Nusbaum and Winn.

This motion was granted and their cases were set for Feb. 1, at which time the selection of a jury to determine the fate of the aged woman and her lover will be started.

Wife of Pastor's Son Wins Divorce on Cruelty

Charges by Mrs. Lois Ryan that her husband, Roland E. Ryan Jr., son of the Rev. R. Keene Ryan, Chicago pastor, had been extremely cruel gained her a divorce yesterday before Circuit Judge Caverly. The Ryans were married in September, 1924, and lived together until August, 1925, when Mrs. Ryan was forced by her husband's cruelty to leave him, she said.

Mrs. Ryan is a dancing instructor. Her husband lives with his parents at 5514 South Green street.

THREE EVANSTON HOMES ROBBED ON ONE NIGHT

Burglars entered three Evanston homes some time during Sunday night while the owners were away, but escaped with very little loot, according to the police.

One home, robbed twice within a week, was that of A. M. Foster, 1221 Hinman avenue, glass manufacturer, who is in Florida with his family.

Another home entered was that of James S. Knight, 1000 Sheridan road, president of the Knight Soda Fountain company, who sailed with his wife last week for Europe. He had stored all his household goods before leaving town.

At the home of Dr. Louis J. Pollock, 511 Hamilton street, the rooms were robbed and silverware stolen.

RIFLE GUARDS PATROL JAIL TO PREVENT BREAK

Fear of a wholesale jail delivery caused Sheriff Hoffman yesterday to ask Chief of Police Collins for police to patrol the outside of the jail to guard the nine men condemned to the gallows and the seventy-five other murderers held in the old jail building.

At 6 o'clock last night Policemen Otto Schoenfeld and Elmer Mulvihill, under Sgt. William T. Shanley, all armed with repeating rifles, took up the vigil of preventing an attempted escape, particularly on the part of Henry J. (Midget) Fennekes.

The nine men now awaiting execution for murder constitute the largest number of such criminals ever held in the jail at one period. The first of the hangings is scheduled for next Friday, when Campbell McCarthy, slayer of Christian Getzen, a west side watchman, is to be hanged.

Three Hangings Feb. 19.
Jack Woods, alias Wilson, and Joseph Holmes, who committed the sensational Drake hotel robbery, are to hang Feb. 19. Fennekes, Daniel McGeoghagan and John Flannery, slayers of Michael Swintowski, treasurer of a building and loan association, are to be hanged Feb. 19, along with Sam Washington, colored, who killed his common law wife.

Raymond Costello, the ex-convict, who killed Madeline White, and Ralph Reno, sentenced for the murder of Edward Palumbic and his wife, are awaiting further action by the courts. Costello's case is being reviewed by the Supreme court and Reno is awaiting action on a motion for a new trial.

Would Halt Crime.

"If the executions now pending are not interfered with by the courts or pardoning boards they will put a stop to murders in this community," said State's Attorney Crowe. "The only way to stop murder is to show crooks that when they use a gun they will be punished by hanging."

"The executions now pending are the result of the work of Assistant State's Attorneys William H. McSwiggin and Harold Levy. I shall assign these two men to many of the pending murder cases."

The guarding of the jail is the result of information received by Capt. George H. Weidling that Fennekes and his pals are planning a jail break. Fennekes is isolated in a cell under constant guard.

Four Beat Up Policeman, Take Club; Under Arrest

Sgt. Michael O'Connor was beaten last night and lost his club for a time when he tried to question four young men. Other policemen came to his assistance and the youths were arrested. They are Hugh, Walter, and Thomas Downs, brothers, of 7830 Emerald avenue, and Francis Ambrose, 7830 South Throop street. The police said Hugh and another brother, George, forfeited bonds aggregating $90,000. George Downs has not been found. It was charged that last October Hugh and George, pretending to be employees of a florist, entered and robbed the home of Mrs. Jessie Duncan, 6919 Crandon avenue, of jewelry worth $4,500. It was said a sister of Mary J. Durkin appeared in court with George Downs.

ACT TO PROTECT BONDHOLDERS IN TRACTION CRISIS

Form Committee; Franchises Expire in Year.

be no 50 per cent of the net receipts of the companies paid the city and no extensions made in the event there is a receivership. It also follows that certain security holders would also want to have the money now spent on cleaning and repair of pavements. Two fares or three fares may also result, although Mr. Busby has told the local transportation committee that he believes that a triple fare system will not result from a receivership and has also conveyed the impression that a double fare would be found inadvisable.

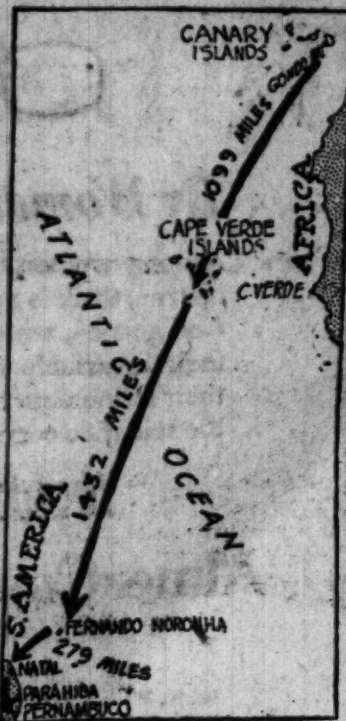

Question of Three Fares.
Ald. Jackson did some questioning along this line. He said, "I am interested in the three fare idea. The franchises expire and a receivership is appointed. In that event is it your opinion that there will be no three fares?"
"I don't see why there should be it is a possibility," replied Mr. Busby.
"What is the assurance there will not be?" persisted Jackson.
"I cannot give you any," answered Mr. Busby.

Ald. Jackson then turned to Weymouth Kirkland, attorney representing Mr. Blair, and asked, "Are the lines agreed now that in the event of a receivership there will be universal transit?"

Receivership Is Inevitable.
To which Mr. Kirkland made the indirect reply, "The creditors may have it in their minds that they don't need a receivership."
Ald. Jackson then asked, "Is it inevitable?"
"If no agreement is reached prior to Feb. 1 next, Mr. Kirkland replied: "I think that is a matter that you have to ask the security holders about." Mr. Busby's answer was as follows: "For some companies it is probably inevitable, and for some it is not; and it is probable for most of them."

"Have protective committees been organized?" asked Ald. Mills.
"I cannot answer that," said Kirkland. Busby's reply was: "As we approach the expiration of the franchises, and the maturity of the debt, undoubtedly proper committees representing the security holders will be organized; and I think also this, the sooner that is done the better, for the reason that if negotiations are taken up with the city at this time or in the near future, we will have the additional advantage of being able to deal with those authorized to represent the security holders."

FLYERS HOP OFF

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Commander Franco and his fellow Spanish aviators in their seaplane, the Ne Plus Ultra, flew today to Grand Cay, whence they will start for the Cape Verde Islands tomorrow morning, weather permitting. The flight to Grand Cay was made in fifteen minutes.

Grand Cay is on the east coast of Grand Cayman Island, the principal member of the Cayman group. Las Palmas is near the northern tip of the island. Commander Franco and his companions are flying from Palos, Spain, to Buenos Aires, thence to Grand Cay, and from there to the Cape Verde Islands, measuring 1,000 miles.

He added later that if an agreement is reached the bondholders might hold off a receivership. But he predicted that if nothing is done "a receivership would be inevitable for most of the companies."

SCHOOL BUDGET PUT $13,400,000 ABOVE LAST YEAR

Finance Group Asks Big Building Increase.

Chicago school appropriations for 1926 will exceed those of 1925 by $13,400,000 if a tentative budget, approved yesterday by the finance committee, is adopted by the board of education.

With possibly a few minor adjustments, to be considered today, the proposed budget will be submitted to the board at its meeting tomorrow afternoon. Charles T. Byrne, chairman of the committee, said he believed it would not be materially altered.

The total appropriation is set at approximately $79,511,000, as compared to $66,111,000 in 1925. The comparative figures and distribution to departments follow:

	1925	1926
General	$41,000,000	$42,000,000
Buildings	$12,000,000	$13,400,000
Food	$1,000,000	$1,000,000
Playgrounds	$2,000,000	$2,000,000
Teachers' pensions	$10,000,000	$10,000,000

Byrne Explains Figures.
Mr. Byrne pointed out that the apparent increase over 1925 does not mean an exact additional expenditure of that amount. The increase is indicated, he said, by unused 1925 funds carried over as appropriations under a new accounting system.

Attention is also called to the fact that the bulk of the increase goes into the building fund to finance the present extensive building program.

Supt. William McAndrew gave the committee a pleasant surprise when he asked for a boost of only $794,499 in the educational fund. Last year the increase was $1,591,348 and in 1925, $4,494,528. The small increase asked this year is attributed to the superintendent's economy program.

Two items in the preliminary draft of the budget were changed yesterday. The $14,000 appropriation for free dental inspection of children was killed and supplanted by an increase in the compulsory education department to employ nine new truant officers.

Principals Up for Approval.
Aside from the budget, the board tomorrow will also have before it Supt. McAndrew's list of successors to seventy-four teachers and principals, retired Feb. 1 under the new merit system rule.

The board will also take action on the superintendent's recommendation that Miss Ruby Moore Smith, a teacher at the Keith school, be tried on charges of inflicting corporal punishment on a fifth grade pupil.

In another communication the board is asked to authorize construction of a new administration building for the Chicago Parental school, 8000 Foster avenue.

Names to be assigned by the board to new schools are scheduled as follows:
Warren G. Harding—Parson and Canal avenues.
Mark Twain—Loomis and 51st street.
Ernest Hemingway—Loomis and 51st street.
Louis Pasteur—Kolin and 58th street.
Fort Dearborn—Elizabeth and 90th street.
Amelia Earhart—Hawthorne and 51st street.
S. I. Stevenson—Diversey and Wilburton avenues.
Samuel Clemens—State and 128th street.
Clara Barton—Diversey and 95th street.

HOUSE CENSURES COMMITTEE; AIR PLANS SUFFER

$9,062,500 Cut May Be Replaced.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—House committee, in revolt against an infringement of their powers by the appropriations committee, scored a victory today when the navy appropriation bill, short of a $9,062,500 item for the purchase and construction of new aircraft, was passed by the House.

The only provision in the $308,512,287 bill for the expansion of naval aviation activities was an allowance of $300,000, to permit the navy department to experiment with a Detroit development corporation on a new type of metal dirigible.

The $900,000, however, will not be available until July 1, and may never be if recommendations by the naval affairs committee before that time against its expenditure are concurred in by the House.

Having gained his point, that the appropriations committee exceeded its authority in authorizing expenditures not first approved by legislative committee, Representative Butler (Rep., Pa.), chairman of the naval affairs group, announced that his committee will report bills sanctioning the aircraft construction program stricken from the appropriations bill.

Meanwhile, however, the bill goes to the Senate, where the appropriation for new aircraft will undoubtedly be reinstated and returned to the House.

Whether the navy really desires to replace the ill fated Shenandoah or to continue experiments with lighter than air craft remained a question even after the bill was passed. Representative Reid (Rep., Ill.), defender of Col. William Mitchell in the latter's recent court martial, in a heated address recorded the navy as opposed to any development or progress in aviation.

With equal emphasis Representative Oliver (Dem., Ala.), a member of the naval appropriations subcommittee, asserted that from Secretary of the Navy Willard Wood naval authorities had indicated the replacement of the Shenandoah with an even larger ship.

DURKIN IS BR MOOCHES SM ATTORNEY W

Martin J. Durkin has taken a dive from dizzy heights into the depths of near obscurity, and dependency, it was yesterday.

State prosecutors, led by State's Attorney John Joseph Savage, declared they plotted their case against Durkin that the evidence was strong to warrant a hanging verdict in the case of a government police sergeant.

Durkin had a conference with a conference death cell at the jail with Mrs. Hattie Durkin, and Michael J. Ahern, prominent attorney. When it broke said Mr. Ahern doubted that Durkin would pay his fee.

So pressed for funds is Durkin, that he was smooched a package of cigars until later in the week.

The fags are on sale complimentary for prisoners who buy.

The ban placed by Chief Collins on the exhibition of pictures showing Durkin was

BUY GREATER CHICAGO ACRES
Acres today—city lots tomorrow
Priced at $350 Per Acre
Terms: $10 a month

This land is located near stations, on rapid transit; near schools, stores and churches and right in the path of Chicago's greatest future development. You can make big money by purchasing these acres today that can be subdivided into city lots tomorrow. Such land should pay you big profits on every foot you buy and in this way you can profit by the tremendous growth of Chicago.

All titles guaranteed by the Chicago Title and Trust Company

Every acre of this land will divide into eight city lots. You can live on this land now and pay for it with your rent money—or you can cultivate it and make money by raising fruits, poultry and vegetables. Later you should be able to cut up this land into city lots and each lot should then sell for as much as you now pay for a whole acre. In the last few years hundreds of our purchasers have made big money by the increasing values of their land, which was bought with a few dollars down, balance like rent.

A few years ago one of our customers bought five acres of such land for $1,800 and recently refused $12,000 for a lot one hundred feet wide off this land.
Another customer, who paid us $1,850 for five acres of land a few years ago, sold a one hundred-foot piece off this land for $5,000 and still has left over 4 1/2 acres.
Acres on the Northwest Side that we sold a few years ago for $800 each are now selling for as much per lot as the purchasers originally paid for an acre.
We have hundreds of other such instances of profit-taking on our lands sold only a few years ago.

You can make similar profits—and you need only a few dollars to start with.

DURKIN IS BROKE; MOOCHES SMOKE; ATTORNEY WARY

Martin J. Durkin has taken a nose dive from dizzy heights of notoriety into the depths of near obscurity, poverty, and despondency, it was revealed yesterday.

State prosecutors, led by Assistant State's Attorneys John Sbarbaro and Joseph Savage, declared they had completed their case against Durkin and that the evidence was strong enough to warrant a hanging verdict for the slayers of a government agent and a police sergeant.

Durkin had a conference in the death cell at the jail with his mother, Mrs. Hattie Durkin, and Attorney Michael J. Ahern, prominent criminal attorney. When it broke up it was said Mr. Ahern doubted that he would represent the slayer, because there are no funds to pay his fee. Mr. Ahern said there would be no final session until later in the week.

It was revealed that he was forced to smother a package of cigars from a reporter who interviewed him yesterday. The fags are on sale at the jail commissary for prisoners with money to buy.

The ban placed by Chief of Police Collins on the exhibition of motion pictures showing Durkin was bitterly criticized by the killer, who seems to realize that the ruling deprives him of an asset in directing public sentiment. Mrs. Durkin was accompanied to the jail by her daughter, Lucille, and two nieces, Harriet Galow and Catherine Cregar. All wished to see their imprisoned kinsman, but Warden George H. Welding would grant the privilege only to Mrs. Durkin and Attorney Ahern.

Winnemac Park Is Urged for Educational Center

Plans for a campaign to persuade the board of education to locate the proposed north side educational center in Winnemac park were discussed last night at a citizens' meeting at the Wilson Avenue Y. M. C. A., 1737 Wilson avenue. The forty-acre park at Foster avenue and Robey street, speakers maintained, is preferable to River-view park, at Belmont and Western avenues, which is recommended by Supt. William McAndrew for the $5,000,000 group of buildings. J. Lewis Coath, a school trustee, who resides in Ravenswood, is championing the Winnemac site.

Charles Blake, son of the owner of the Charles G. Blake Mountaintop company, was ordered to pay his wife $10 a week while Judge John J. Lupe started an inquiry into his earnings. When he was arraigned yesterday in the court of domestic relations on a charge of non-support filed by his wife, Astrid Blake, a former member of the Greenwich Village Follies, he pleaded he could not afford more than $10 as his salary was only $35 a week. The case was continued.

REALTY DEALER HELD AFTER AUTO HITS PEDESTRIAN

After his automobile had run down a pedestrian, A. A. Lewis, 323 Argyle street, a real estate dealer, was booked on a charge of reckless driving yesterday.

Lewis' automobile struck H. J. Fielman, 17 years old, 3543 North Seeley avenue, at Clark and Addison streets. The youth was taken to the hospital with three broken ribs and possible internal injuries.

No deaths due to automobile accidents were reported yesterday, the motor death toll since Jan. 1 remaining 57.

George L. La Mere, 157 East 154th street, and Morris Parks, 15618 Lexington street, were killed Sunday night when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a train at 147th street in Barger.

SPRAGUE ORDERS PLANS FOR CITY OWNED AIRPORT

Plans for work on Chicago's municipal airport were ordered yesterday by Commissioner of Public Works A. A. Sprague following an intensive study of landing fields. The new port will be located at 63d street and Cicero avenue, on property leased from the board of education.

Providing cinder runways and grading the field will be the first task of the engineers. At the same time arrangements for sheds and fueling stations will be considered and their installation soon will follow.

With the completion of the runways, the federal government is ready to move in with a fleet of aircraft for the use of reserve flying officers. The first detail, according to government officials, will be twenty-four planes.

FIRE SCARES MOVIE PATRONS.

Patrons of the Windsor movie picture theater were alarmed yesterday by a fire directly across the street in the basement of the Garland Tobolsky company, 1244 South Clark street, which damaged furniture to the extent of $1,500.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach and relief will come instantly.

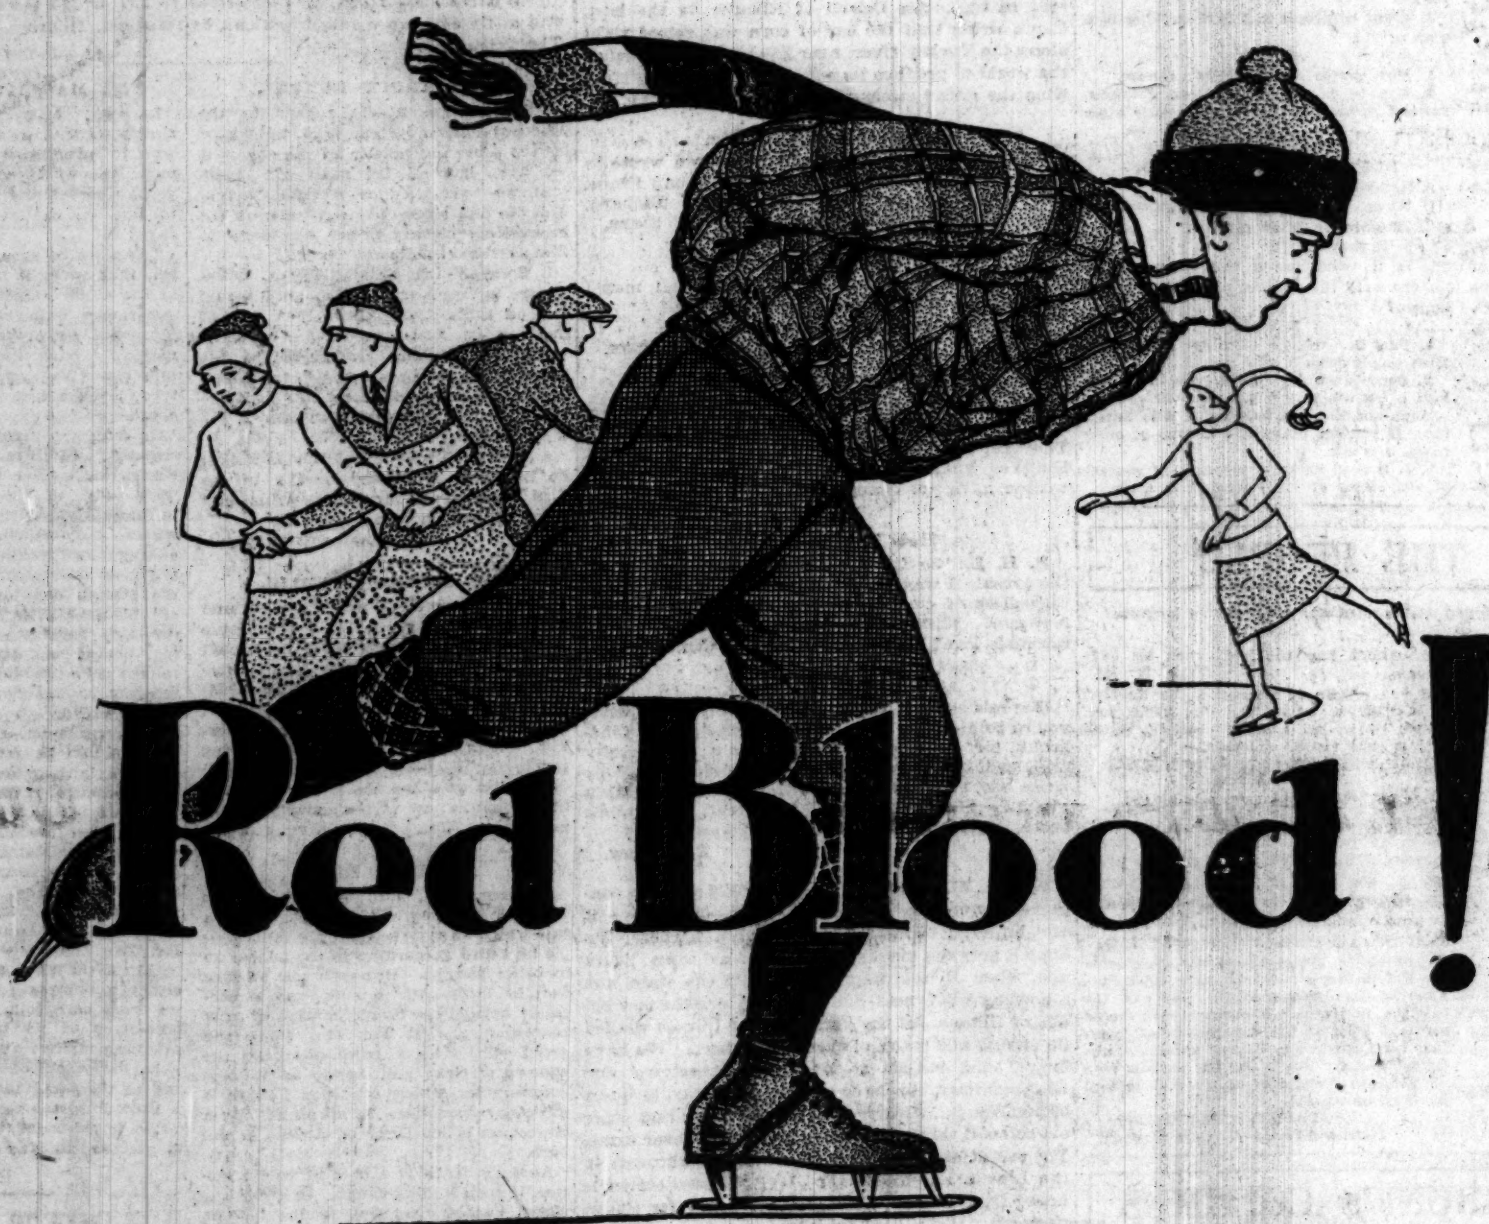

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store.

WE'RE BACKING OUT GOING IN.

The senate by a vote of 53 to 26 applied the closure rule to limit the world court debate. The majority is more than the two-thirds required to adopt the resolution. It is taken for granted now that within a few days, with further debate restricted, the senate will put the United States into the international court system for whatever consequences in the future may come from that.

The pro-court vote was wavering and the proponents thought their chances would be lost if further time was granted for consideration. They were able to force the vote before the tax bill is taken up. The greater success is with the opposition, which stuck to its guns against the infatuated or embarrassed majority, winning concessions which may give the United States at least an even break against the promotion in this country and the pull from abroad designed to get the United States in up to the ears in every European complication including the league of nations.

Senator Swanson of Virginia, who introduced the world court resolution in the senate, has submitted a revision for the original. The opposition scores in that and the pro-court majority indicates its uncertainty and weakness. The revision tries to reduce the American acceptance of the court to a formality, and it is possible, even if the senate adopts the resolution, the other countries will decline to receive an adherent which comes in expressing so much distrust of the tribunal it consents to join.

That is nothing to rely upon, but it is a possibility. One change provides that the United States may withdraw its adherence at any time. That is intended to meet the objection that the country was going in with no way of getting out. It is also provided that the United States shall not be required to submit any case except by general or special treaties with other nations or nations in the dispute. The revision also removes out of the jurisdiction of the court any question affecting the admission of aliens, the territorial integrity of the country, any indebtedness of any American state or anything involving the maintenance of American traditions and policies, such as the Monroe Doctrine.

The proponents in going in are backing out and the opponents occupy the field of battle which the majority cannot hold. Their victory is substantial already.

The reservation that no state's indebtedness may be taken into the court interests a good many Democratic senators who were made unhappy by the suggestion that people who hold repudiated southern bonds might try to collect when the United States had entered the court. Some of these bonds were of reconstruction days when the north forced irresponsible and incapable and even looting governments on the southern states. When the white citizenship regained its freedom it refused to pay. We have felt that there was in some of these cases a national obligation to square the accounts. In other cases the states haven't so clear a record of having been abused by a temporary bond issuing authority over which they had no control.

The proponents of the court might be a bit shamefaced to offer such a condition to the world upon the occasion of attaching this country to an arrangement for the administration of international justice and the betterment of man. What do they fear? That the court would instantly kick them for some money regardless of justice or that in the court of justice they don't want justice? In the one instance it is lack of confidence in the court which ought to keep us out; in the other it is a determination to keep what we have regardless of whether it is just or not. In either case the court's no place for us. Either its hands are dirty or American hands are.

The Monroe Doctrine reservation, if it is worth anything, not only prevents an American question of policy involving the United States from going before the court but also a question between any two other American states which getting a European decision would be regarded as interference. In the court the United States reserves the right to tell the league of nations that it objects to a decision as between two other American nations, fearing the consequences as inevitably troublesome.

Although the reservations are intended to crawl out of the court before getting into it and although they represent a surrender on the part of the proponents which the opposition accepts as a victory against the court, the situation remains that no one can indicate the usefulness of the court to the American people and all that has been done is to restrict its harmfulness.

The highly organized promotion paid for, notably by Mr. Bok, has headed the United States in a direction which we believe to be wrong. We can only hope that the lukewarm supporters of the resolution may be right in the assumption that the court does not and never can amount to much in the shape of policy the opposition now has it. Our internationalists think and hope that the next steps will land the United States in the league of nations. They intended that the court should be the back door to the league and the honest of them said so. That's probably the next fight, after more promotion.

THE JOLIET CORN MEET.

Two thousand farmers are to meet at Joliet in one of the largest agricultural rallies ever held in Illinois. They are to talk about corn and the predicament in which they find themselves because of the low selling value of this chief grain crop of the middle west.

Such discussions as this coming one must be relied on to determine the panacea for the farmer's difficulties, whether it is to be government aid, a new farm board, closer cooperation, or an export corporation, or a combination of all of these things. There is no dearth of expert opinion among the farmers. They are well on their way to settle their problems in their own fashion.

But while they talk of corn and the crop surplus, they will do wisely to remember that here in the country's producing center low grain prices, live stock prices, and surpluses are not the only obstacles with which they are forced to contend. Other influences work against the midwestern farmer.

The Lakes to Gulf and the Lakes-St. Lawrence waterways are projects designed to benefit the midwestern farmer as much as the midwestern industrialist. East coast and Pacific coast have water transportation close at hand. Not until the inland farmer can send a crop of grain abroad by water can he stand on equal footing with his right and left hand neighbors.

The midwest farmer helps maintain the Panama canal. In return for his outlay he gets curtailed railroad transportation and higher freight rates; for, again, the two coasts are benefited at the expense of the middle west. The Panama canal should be made to raise its tolls until it is put on a self-maintaining basis.

Cane sugar and beet sugar can be used as sweetening and the labeled product bears no record of the sugar used. Corn sugar, though not quite so sweet, is quite as pure, yet the product sweetened with corn sugar must announce that fact as though corn sugar were an adulterant. The midwest farmer's corn is discriminated against in favor of Cuban cane. The law should require all kinds of sugar sweetening to be announced on the label, or none.

The Illinois dairy farmer has a problem all his own. Chicago refuses longer to feed its children milk from tubercular cows; as a result, the city's consumption of milk has decreased and the dairy farmer is faced with ruin. The state legislature appropriated $200,000 to recompense him for the slaughter of diseased cattle. But when he needs the money he finds that Gov. Small has lumped it with the general funds of the state and will use it to maintain his pay roll instead of to indemnify the farmer. Only $185,000 of the $200,000 has been paid out; $115,000 remains. The Joliet meet can assist in making Small forget his $100,000 pay roll's defense fund and come across with the dairy farmer's money.

Lastly, we recommend to the Joliet convention that it stir up its representatives in Washington or get new ones who will go out and do business in behalf of the middle west. Congressman Britten is not a bad model to pattern on. He is not ashamed of his midwestern accent or his midwestern viewpoint. He believes in starting to be a good American by being a good Illinoisian and refusing to know-to-eastern delusions of grandeur. Illinois needs representatives in Washington who are proud of the fact that they come from the Corn Belt.

RAILROAD MERGERS.

The bankers have arranged a marriage between the Rock Island and the St. Louis and San Francisco railroads. Together they would form the largest railway system in the country, with combined assets of $875,000,000 and 13,585 miles of main line track. The two railroads must live apart or live in sin, however, until the interstate commerce commission blesses the union. The free play of private initiative does not exist in the railroad business.

Efforts are being made in congress still further to limit initiative by making railway mergers compulsory. Senator Cummins says government operation is the only alternative and he is opposed to government ownership. Railroads cannot be maintained and operated with rates as low as they should be in the interest of agriculture and industry, he thinks, until the mergers have been effected.

Joseph B. Eastman, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, believes some mergers may be useful, but he thinks the advantages of combination can be exaggerated. The commission has recommended a bill giving it broad powers to approve or disapprove voluntary mergers without reference to any general plan such as that devised by Prof. W. Z. Ripley of Harvard a number of years ago at the request of the commission. Under that plan the Rock Island and Frisco were to remain separate and independent.

As between enforced mergers and voluntary ones, we think the choice is clearly in favor of voluntary action. It is obviously unfair to invest-ors in prosperous railroads to oblige them to carry the burden of other men's failures. On the other hand, if railway operators and investors see advantages in combination, they should be allowed to carry them into effect, particularly if the public interest is safeguarded by the commission.

NOT A DROP OF BLOOD SPILLED.

(Rock Island (Ill.) Argus.)

The newspapers have been carrying stories telling of a bloodless duel in Paris between Rudolph Valentino and a Bulgarian baron in love with Vilma Banky. The boys came to blows in a Paris theater box where Rudolph was with a party of friends witnessing one of his pictures. They called one another bounds, but friends intervened and stopped them before they spatred the carapets of the theater box with their own. They were reminded that gentlemen in France do not adopt the custom of raising right hands in sign of agreement of troops, and elected Jeff Davis a major general.

BOSTON.—The abolition convention was broken up by a mob. Five thousand persons gathered about Tremont temple, but Mayor Wightman ordered it kept closed. The crowd believed the order was a ruse to cause it to disperse. It broke up into small parties and waited for hours for the hall to open. Then about 300 went to the home of Wendell Phillips and threatened to clean him out. Police prevented an attack. The colored population was in terror that it would be attacked, but no move was made in that direction.

HOW SCHOOL CHILDREN LIVE.

EATING between meals seemed to be a haunting sin; 571 children acknowledged this. Ten or fifteen cents' worth of candy a day and coffee should not be included in the diet of an undernourished child to the exclusion of milk and cereals. This quotation is taken from the report of Dr. Clara Jacobson on the pupils of the Scanlon school.

After making a close study of the school children used all that was in it, including the human inhabitants, Dr. Jacobson investigated the home habits of the children. The report on eating habits showed that most of the children ate three meals a day, but many of them ate between meals. Many had a poor breakfast and others had poorly balanced meals.

A breakfast consisting of toast, bread or cake and coffee was regarded as an inadequate meal. It was found that in a great many homes breakfast was eaten in five to ten minutes on the average. A breakfast that could be eaten in five to ten minutes was reasonably certain to be inadequate in quantity and quality. A meal very rapidly eaten is apt to be poorly chewed and improperly mixed with saliva.

The children showed that more than one-half of the children in this grade drank one or more cups of coffee a day. Two-thirds of the number took only one cup a day while twenty-five, or less than four per cent, took more than one cup.

There are few schools that could equal that record. Plainly, milk is in very good standing among the patrons of the Scanlon school.

As to fruits, vegetables, and cereals, the report shows that the children of Italian parentage use them freely. The Italian diet in both this country and Italy, is fond of fruits and vegetables. There are those who say that the low consumption rate of the Italians is due to their custom of eating vegetables and cereals in combination.

More than 40 per cent of the children in this school are in bed before nine o'clock, 40 per cent of them get ten hours' sleep, and 37.5 per cent, 11 hours' sleep.

DILEMMA.

Oh, what have you done, my dear... my dear... What have you done?
The stars are white blossoms hovering near,
And rivers of silence run.

An hour ago and I was free!
A careless lover.
Answer!... what you done to me...
While the pale stars bend over.

An hour ago and your arrogant kiss
Was fire and storm.
But pride has nothing to do with this,
Fluttering, shy, and warm.

Hark to the tremulous silence... hark!
Oh, what have you done...
To wait me away in blossoming dark
When I wanted wind and sun.

QUESTIONS OF THE SUBURBS.
WE DIDN'T MEAN to turn our exchange of Linebooks for Iowa into a prize competition,
but old Frank Ridgway, the dirt editor (farm, not society), sits right across the aisle from our desk, and he did the trick. As the tall ears of yellow Iowa corn pile up on our desk like a stack of golden nuggets, illuminating and making beautiful
the dingy corner where we toil, old Farmer Ridgway comes over and runs his fingers lovingly over our treasures. He takes each ear and looks at it like an artist in front of a masterpiece by Muriel.
And finally he picks up one ear and says solemnly,
"That's the best ear of corn that's been sent in today."

So we decided that we would let the dirt editor have his corn carnival, and that while we would give Linebooks as we promised for every ear of corn sent in, we would also give a bound Linebook for one that Corn Judge Ridgway said was the best for the day. Yesterday he picked out the ear sent in by Glenn Deland of Eldorado as the best.
Glenn wrote that the ear of corn was raised right along the Turkey river, near Eldorado, and he defied
the world to produce its superior. So Turkey river wins the grand sweepstakes prize for Monday.

WELL, WELL! SHAWNOWN TOWN got into congress yesterday. A bill was proposed to give it one hundred thousand dollars for a harbor. We hope it gets the money, it's a grand old town. Years ago, when all this northern part of the state was a howling wilderness, Shawnown town was the metropolis of Illinois. All the great men of Illinois walked its streets and many of them lived there. We have longed and longed to go to Shawnown town and Elizabeth town, its sister city not far away, in quest of comb-back windows and Stiegel glass and other old colonial things, but the opportunity never came.
We talked about it (that's Elizabeth town) in the heard from at last. We want a harbor for Shawn-own town. We'd like to have one for good old

Etown, too.

QUESTIONS OF THE SUBURBS.
WE DIDN'T MEAN to turn our exchange of Linebooks for Iowa into a prize competition,
but old Frank Ridgway, the dirt editor (farm, not society), sits right across the aisle from our desk,
and he did the trick. As the tall ears of yellow
Iowa corn pile up on our desk like a stack of golden nuggets, illuminating and making beautiful
the dingy corner where we toil, old Farmer Ridgway comes over and runs his fingers lovingly over our treasures. He takes each ear and looks at it like an artist in front of a masterpiece by Muriel.
And finally he picks up one ear and says solemnly,
"That's the best ear of corn that's been sent in today."

So we decided that we would let the dirt editor
have his corn carnival, and that while we would give Linebooks as we promised for every ear of corn sent in, we would also give a bound Linebook
for one that Corn Judge Ridgway said was the best for the day. Yesterday he picked out the ear sent in by Glenn Deland of Eldorado as the best.
Glenn wrote that the ear of corn was raised right along the Turkey river, near Eldorado, and he defied
the world to produce its superior. So Turkey river wins the grand sweepstakes prize for Monday.

WELL, WELL! SHAWNOWN TOWN got into congress yesterday. A bill was proposed to give it one hundred thousand dollars for a harbor. We hope it gets the money, it's a grand old town. Years ago, when all this northern part of the state was a howling wilderness, Shawnown town was the metropolis of Illinois. All the great men of Illinois walked its streets and many of them lived there. We have longed and longed to go to Shawnown town and Elizabeth town, its sister city not far away, in quest
of comb-back windows and Stiegel glass and other old colonial things, but the opportunity never came.
We talked about it (that's Elizabeth town) in the line a lot—member? Well, Shawnown town is heard from at last. We want a harbor for Shawn-own town. We'd like to have one for good old
Etown, too.

NEWS ABOUT DURKIN.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—In regard to the proposed Durkin defense fund, to be paid by the admiring public, let me say that we have had all the news of Durkin that we want, and more than enough. The life and loves of a murderer are not interesting, elevating, nor necessary to the average intelligent person. I imagine the circulation of newspaper buying such Durkin stuff would fall off quite materially. If a few of these silly, fool-sorry-for-him women would but imagine themselves in the place of the mothers and widows whose loved ones were killed by this degenerate perhaps they would see him in his true colors. All the news we want of Durkin is that he has been sentenced, and I believe THE TRIBUNE will furnish the public that piece of news gratis.

KATHARIN O'SULLIVAN.

THE ADMIRING PUBLIC.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—I was surprised and indignant when I read how the people cheered Martin Durkin when he got off the train here. To think that people of this present day, who call themselves civilized, would praise such a man, I am for one can't see a thing heroic in Durkin, nor anything smart in cheering for him. He may be a brilliant murderer, but give me the not so brilliant lawyer of the law of the country and of mankind. JOHN PAUL STAFFORD JR.

FRENCH DEPUTIES OPEN BATTLE ON FINANCES TODAY

Briand May Drop Doumer to Save Cabinet.

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 25.—Tomorrow will see the opening of the parliamentary debate to save France's finances. Two projects aimed to stabilize the franc, restore public confidence in paper currency, insure economic and industrial recovery, and permit the state treasury to escape bankruptcy, will be presented at the public debate in the chamber of deputies.

One plan, drafted by Finance Minister Doumer, has been rejected by the chamber of deputies' finance committee, the majority of whose members are from the left cartel. They consider M. Doumer's project reactionary and too drastic enough. The finance committee has drafted its own alternative plan.

Premier Briand and his cabinet have pledged their support of the Doumer scheme, which represents the government, but the wily old politician has announced his intention of seeking some compromise, and M. Doumer may be thrown overboard like M. Caillaux, M. Luchaire, and others, if it is seen the majority of the chamber intends to support the committee.

Premier Briand is expected to battle for support for the government by offering a plan to increase the salaries of deputies from 27,000 francs (about $1,800) to 42,000 francs (about $2,800) annually if the deputies accept the cabinet plan.

Need $1,200,000,000.
Both plans envisage government requirements just under 30,000,000,000 francs (about $2,000,000,000) of which nearly 23,000,000,000 francs (about $1,500,000,000) must be expended for interest in varying on the internal debt, and so forth.

The Doumer plan estimates a deficit of 4,000,000,000 francs (about $260,000,000) and the committee expects a deficit of 2,000,000,000 francs (about $130,000,000). The committee hopes to slash another half a million francs from the budget.

Battle the deficit of 4,000,000,000 francs (about $260,000,000) M. Doumer wants the state to reimburse the Bank of France 3,000,000,000 francs (about $200,000,000) on the 34,000,000,000 francs (about $2,260,000,000) the treasury owes the bank, and intends to allocate 2,500,000,000 francs (about $160,000,000) for the creation of an amortization fund.

Rep Doumer's inflation plan. The committee rejects these two proposals, pointing out that M. Doumer's scheme further provides for additional camouflaged inflation amounting to 3,000,000,000 francs ($200,000,000) in the clause for the issuance of 3,000,000,000 francs in additional short term bonds which must be handled through the Bank of France with paper money corresponding to the amount.

Thus M. Doumer's total deficit is envisaged as swollen to 8,000,000,000 francs ($520,000,000) and the committee's is only 3,700,000,000 francs ($245,000,000).

The Doumer scheme plans to cover the deficit by collecting 3,000,000,000 francs ($200,000,000) from additional import taxes envisaged under the Loucheur scheme; a surtax on bourse operations bringing 100,000,000 francs ($6,666,666); increased tobacco taxes, which would produce 1,000,000,000 francs ($66,666,666); a business tax on exports for 600,000,000 francs ($40,000,000); and a stamp tax on all sales except foodstuffs, which should raise 3,000,000,000 francs ($200,000,000).

The Committee Plan.

The committee aims to raise its smaller deficit by an increase in the income tax yielding 900,000,000 francs ($60,000,000); a bourse surtax for 200,000,000 francs ($13,333,333); the recovery of a war profits tax of 150,000,000 francs ($10,000,000); death duties of 4,000,000,000 francs ($266,666,666); an increase in the various categories of taxation for a total of 2,180,000,000 francs ($145,333,333).

ITALIANS AGREE TO PAY BRITAIN 17 PCT. OF DEBT

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

(Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Count Volpi, Italian finance minister and Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill will complete the agreement on the Italian-British debt settlement today, according to a statement obtained late tonight. A final draft of the agreement remains to be prepared and it is expected to be ready for signature late tomorrow or Wednesday.

THE TRIBUNE understands the Italians have obtained better conditions from the British than they did from the Americans. The settlement is based on a present capital value of $90,000,000 (about $400,000,000) or about 17 per cent of the former agreed total of $510,000,000 (about $2,250,000,000). The basic annuities are to be more than $500,000 (about $2,500,000), but THE TRIBUNE understands Italy has obtained a partial moratorium during the first five years. This means the payments for the initial years will be smaller.

It is also understood Chancellor Churchill waived the British demand for treatment pari passu with American bonds.

Count Volpi, in a hopeful frame of mind, remarked tonight that the problem had been reviewed by the Chancellor and himself from all angles and an agreement on all essential points reached.

"It merely remains for the drafting experts, to whom the agreement will be committed during the course of tomorrow, to affect certain minor adjustments relating to the annuity figure, which are not all equal in value," Count Volpi said. "For this reason it will be necessary to balance them carefully in order to produce the exact amount of the basic annuities."

FORMER AGENT OF U. S. TAKEN AS FAKER OF CHECKS

Martin McNichol, a former agent of the government naturalization service, was arrested yesterday on charges of having impersonated an officer in order to cash worthless checks.

Federal authorities, to whom he surrendered, charge he victimized persons whom he had met while he was in the United States service by cashing bogus checks for several hundred dollars in various parts of the country.

He and Al Hillman were arrested on similar charges several years ago. In April, 1924, he was convicted and sentenced to serve fifteen months. On his release, it is said, he started the same game again. Hillman was sentenced to serve five years.

WIFE KILLED; MATE TRIES SUICIDE.
Frank Gurn, 1420 Walton street, who was arrested Sunday as he was about to jump into the lake in Lincoln park, yesterday declared that he was despondent over the elopement of his wife with another man.

CHURCH EXPELS PROFESSOR WHO IGNORES POPE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ROME, Jan. 25.—For the third time in twenty-five years a Catholic priest has been excommunicated in Italy—the Rev. Ernesto Buonajuti, professor of church history at the university here.

He was forbidden to wear priestly clothing on March 24 on account of his writings, which were placed in the list of forbidden books. At the same time the pope commanded him to resign from his post at the university. With the second and third steps of excommunication this order was repeated, but he disregarded it. The final casting out becomes effective tomorrow, but the Rev. Buonajuti insists on retaining his university chair, which is dependent on the state and not the church. According to the canons, every Catholic who has dealings with the professor is considered excommunicated.

4 STATES JOIN ILLINOIS FIGHT FOR LAKE FLOW

Ask Supreme Court for Right to Intervene.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, and Louisiana today joined themselves with Illinois and the Chicago sanitary district against the move of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio, and Pennsylvania to secure a United States Supreme court writ enjoining further diversion of Lake Michigan water into the Chicago drainage canal.

The Tennessee petition, filed by Attorney General Frank M. Thompson, and which is typical of the others, asks leave of the court to join with Illinois and the sanitary district in the motion to dismiss the suit of Wisconsin and its sister states. It alleges that jurisdiction in the lake level controversy is vested in congress and the war department.

Caristrom Files Briefs.
Simultaneously, briefs in support of the dismissal motion were filed by Attorney General Oscar Caristrom on behalf of the state of Illinois and by Hector A. Brouillet, attorney for the sanitary district. Wisconsin, Missouri, Ohio, and Pennsylvania have been ordered by the court to file their answers to the briefs before March 8, when oral arguments will begin.

Great businesses and industries have been developed in Tennessee, according to its petition to intervene, which depend largely for their success upon the maintenance of a navigable channel in the Mississippi river. This can only be maintained if an adequate flow of water is continuously diverted from Lake Michigan through the Illinois river, it is set up.

Reviews Former Contentions.
Mr. Caristrom's brief on behalf of the state of Illinois reviews the former contentions that the Supreme court is without jurisdiction in the controversy, but that if it has, the federal government should be a party to the suit because the government has sanctioned the withdrawal of water in the past. The government, itself, has undertaken the completion of the lake-to-gulf waterway, which will require continued diversion, it is pointed out, and, finally, the complaining states have no inalienable property right in the navigability of the great lakes.

Summing up his arguments, Mr. Caristrom contends that "the tremendous gravity of the political and economic bearings of this case have only been hinted in this brief" and that the outstanding questions in the controversy are "intrinsically political, economic, and administrative, and seriously not judicial."

"Surely," the brief goes on, "the fate of a century-old project of comprehensive water communications uniting two-thirds of the area of the United States with the Atlantic ocean, or of a great military establishment affecting the health and lives of a community of over three million people is not to be cavalierly resolved in the summary procedure of an injunction suit, brought by petitioners of tenuous and doubtful rights, even though those petitioners come clothed in the dignity of states of the Union.

"The states complainant are, after all, merely four out of forty-eight, parties to a federal compact. Their rights are not absolute. They are correlative of the complimentary rights of all other states. The trustee of all rights in the navigable waters of the United States is the federal government, which must administer them for the benefit and enjoyment of the whole nation.

PERSHING CLEANS PLATE AT ARICA BEFORE LEAVING
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
ARICA, Chile, Jan. 23.—Gen. Pershing's sailing was delayed today owing to the fact that the electoral regulation committee had not finished the report which the general wishes to have approved by the commission before sailing. The committee, which has been sitting daily, again adjourned until tomorrow when it is expected it will conclude and the commission with Gen. Pershing probably will sail on Thursday on the Denver.

CANADA OBJECTS TO CHICAGO-GULF WATERWAY BILL

Vigorous Protests Proposed Water Withdrawal

BY GEORGE SMITH.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 23.—"This government is fully alive to the menace of the provisions of this bill to the navigation, power, and other interests in the great lakes and the St. Lawrence river. It is registering with the United States government a vigorous protest against its passage in so far as it contemplates the withdrawal of water from the great lakes."

This was the statement of Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, in the house this afternoon, referring to a bill now before the United States senate providing for betterment of transportation facilities of the Mississippi and connected waterways.

"It is not unreasonable to assume," Mr. Stewart said, after briefly outlining the provisions of that measure, "that this bill is receiving the fullest measure of support by those Chicago interests which so actively contend for the maintenance of the existing diversions through the Chicago sanitary canal."

Look for Film

(Run your tongue across your teeth and you'll feel it!)

That's what makes your teeth look "off color."
That's what invites decay and gum troubles.

Accept, please, this remarkable dental test which gives "off-color" teeth dazzling whiteness and firms delicate gums by removing that dingy film

IN a few days you can work a transformation in your mouth this new way. Dazzling whiteness will supplant that "off-color" look of your teeth. Your gums will become firm and take on the healthy coral tint you envy.

FILM... the trouble
Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film, a viscous coat that covers them.
That film is an enemy to your teeth—and your gums. You must remove it.
It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that cloudy "off-color" look. Germs by the millions breed in it, and they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea, and gum disorders.
Old-time methods fail in successfully combating it. That's why, regardless of the care you take, your teeth remain dull—your gums soft and toneless.

Now methods remove it
And Firm the Gums

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, dental science has discovered effective combatants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it, then to firm the gums to healthy coral color.
What you see when that film is removed—the dazzling whiteness of your teeth—will delight and amaze you.
Largely on dental advice, the world has turned to this method. A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS

Says glass of Salts helps to overcome Rheumatism

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kinds.
Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.
At the first twinges of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

IRVING BERLIN SHOWS HE CAN MIX DR

IRVING BERLIN SHOWS HE STILL CAN MIX DRINKS

PARIS, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Irving Berlin and his wife, who was Ellen MacLay, have come to Paris from London, and, instead of maintaining that shyness which has characterized their relations with the press, they called together the Paris correspondents for an interview in their suite in one of the prominent hotels.

The Berlins, though somewhat tired and nervous, were most amiable to the correspondents. When Mrs. Berlin refused, Irving remained to mix cocktails for his visitors.

"I used to do this for a business," he said, "now just to oblige my friends. I've got a special touch."

Six weeks sunshine, good weather and some sea bathing is what we are looking for," said Berlin. "We are tired and we want rest, far from intrusion, noise and excitement, which is a natural enough desire in honeymooners. We are staying in Paris about ten days; we are going to see a few friends and a few shows and find what Paris cabarets can offer in the way of jazz."

Mrs. Berlin explained that she was going shopping, "but," she added, "not immediately, because it is between seasons. I prefer to wait for the spring models."

"We are just a couple of human beings in love, who decided to get married," explained Irving, mildly protesting against the "sensationalism" which followed their marriage. Mrs. Berlin, with a "yes, Irving," frequently nodded approval.

"There was nothing sudden in our marriage," continued the song writer, "of which we had been thinking off and on for two years. We went to Atlantic City on our honeymoon; reporters followed and made a sensational story out of a perfectly natural happening. We recent greatly the sensational part, as can be easily understood. "We have not been in hiding at all, except for a few days in New York when, naturally, we wanted to be alone. We never even tried to hide. "But," he remarked laughingly, "the papers do not want us to be happy; they are not interested in our happiness; all they care about, now they have got us safely married, is news of the divorce. Well, we are NOT yet ready to gratify them."

Berlin partly revealed the "big surprise for American and English friends, at which he had been hinting during his London visit, by saying he expected to remain in Europe for the next six months, absorbed in new work."

"There is something in the wind about a new show in London," he remarked, "but I can't say yet with whom, nor about what. It will be a musical comedy, not a revue, and it will open in London in September, after which I will take it to the United States myself. The book will be composed by a well known author, I will do the music, and one of the best producers in London will stage it. The whole thing is practically settled, but I must reserve details until later."

BELGIUM TO GIVE NOTED CARDINAL NATIONAL BURIAL

BY JAY ALLEN.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Copyright, 1926, By The Chicago Tribune.)

BRUSSELS, Jan. 25.—Cardinal Mercier, Belgium's greatest world war hero, will be given a national funeral.

Since his death Saturday the church whose prince he was has been quietly preparing to give its last blessing from his own cathedral, St. Rombaut, at Malines, and the government has said nothing. Today it was assumed that there would be no awkward protest in parliament, which must provide funds for a national funeral, by the parties of the extreme left, with whom the cardinal was often embittered.

The body of the dead prelate will be carried from Malines, where it is now lying in state, to Brussels Wednesday.

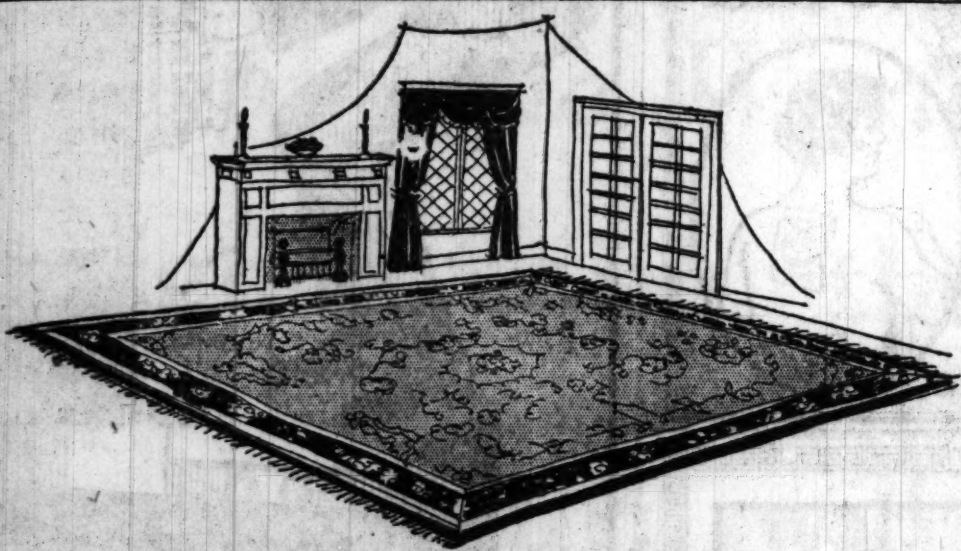

In the lovely Cathedral of St. Michel and St. Gudule on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock Belgium and the world through its ambassadors will bid farewell to Cardinal Mercier, while at the same hour his household will attend a mass at St. Rombaut.

The body, in its magnificent robes of the church, will lie atop a monumental catalogue in the transept of St. Gudule, surrounded by triple rose tapers. On each side of the bier will be a throne, one for King Albert and the other for Archbishop Mierens, papal nuncio. The body will be taken back to Malines Friday, and with the greatest pomp buried under the high altar of the cathedral.

Meanwhile there are whispers of the development of a hot contest over Cardinal Mercier's successor. The churchmen of Belgium, two distinct populations, the Walloons and the Flemish, already are wrangling over who shall be Belgium's next primate.

The pilgrimage to the palace in Malines, where the cardinal's body lies in state, continued to grow today.

SENATOR JAMES A. REED
He is among the strongest opponents of the court in the senate.

The Greatest Debate Ever Heard in the World

SENATOR THOMAS J. WALSH of Montana. He is leading the fight for America's entry in the World Court.

will be broadcast from Station W-G-N at 8 o'clock tonight. The four most brilliant speakers in the senate will argue directly to the people: Shall we, or shall we not, join the World Court of the League of Nations?

Tonight Walsh, the fighting radical of Montana, will support the affirmative; Reed, the fearless irreconcilable from Missouri, will uphold the negative.

Tomorrow night Lenroot, the Wisconsin stalwart, favors the court, while Borah, a great orator, opposes the court.

SENATOR WILLIAM E. BORAH
With Senator Reed he is the chief of forces striving to keep America out of the court.

Each day a ballot will appear in The Tribune with which you may cast your vote for or against adherence to the court.

This debate transcends party lines! A Republican upholds, and a Republican opposes. A Democrat upholds, and a Democrat opposes.

SENATOR IRVINE L. LENROOT of Wisconsin, who, with Walsh, is commanding the pro-World Court forces.

The Chicago Tribune deems it the privilege of every American to hear at first hand the opinions of the chief proponents and opponents of the World Court. Four United States senators—Borah of Idaho, Reed of Missouri, Walsh of Montana, and Lenroot of Wisconsin—have consented to present their views, and they will be heard tonight and tomorrow evening over W-G-N, The Tribune's radio station!

Senators Lenroot and Walsh are the leaders in the senate fight for America's entry into the world court, while Borah and Reed are directing the forces opposing it. Reed and Walsh are to talk this evening at 8 o'clock. Tomorrow evening Senators Borah and Lenroot are to make their respective pleas.

The debate on this international development which may mar or make America's future is the most spectacular event ever presented on the air. It offers the American public an opportunity to make up its own mind regarding the court from a simple, straightforward presentation of both sides of the case by the leaders in the senate fight for and against the measure.

The debate will be staged in a Washington radio studio and two thousand miles of telephone lines have been leased at great expense to bring the messages of the four senators to the W-G-N transmitter on the Drake hotel. W-G-N is the only station in the country broadcasting this important debate!

DENTISTS CLAIM FIRST PLACE IN YOUTH MOVEMENT

Cleopatra, so they say, put into her mouth a sextette of ivory store teeth, suspended on a band of fine gold, whenever Anthony appeared on the front porch.

If only there had been dental clinics in those days, how different it would have been. Chicago dentists yesterday pointed out as they discussed the program of the Chicago Dental society's 62d annual meeting and clinic which tomorrow opens a three day session at the Drake hotel.

For had Cleo's mamma known of modern methods doubtless she would have believed so firmly in preventive dentistry that she would have had all of daughter's tooth aches so well cared for in her childhood that she would have smiled a matchless smile.

at Anthony, assured that no stray tooth could come loose.

Preventive dentistry, characterized by modern dentists as the real youth movement, will be the keynote of the coming convention.

"It is impossible to do much fundamental dental reconstruction work in the mouth of an adult," Dr. Dan U. Cameron, one of the directors of the meeting, declared yesterday.

"But if dentists get the children of the pre-school age, tremendous strides in lasting dental work can be accomplished. At the same time, this preventive dentistry, in many cases, is a guarantee against later development of life attributed to bad teeth conditions."

As an example of the growing affiliation of medicine and dentistry, Dr. Cameron emphasized the significance of a fourfold representation at a banquet tomorrow night. Dr. William D. Haggard, president of the American Medical association, will speak on "Teamwork for the Health of the People," and Dr. Sheppard W. Foster, president of the American Dental association will talk on "A Dental Educational Program." The Chicago Dental society is host, the Chicago Medical society will have delegates present. One important feature to be given prominence in the papers to be presented during the convention is the controversy over the extraction of dead teeth. Findings on this subject will be presented by the "Root Canal Problems and Technique committee" consisting of Dr. J. B. Hanes of the University of Illinois; Dr. Edward H. Hutton, Northwestern university; Dr. Edward M. Hall, Kansas City; Dr. B. Johnson, Atlanta; and Dr. W. G. Rickert of the University of Michigan.

DEVER ARRIVES ON GULF COAST FOR HIS VACATION

Gulfport, Miss., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—William E. Dever, mayor of Chicago, arrived on the Mississippi Gulf coast today. He was met at the train by a delegation of prominent citizens and escorted to Biloxi, where he will stay.

The mayor said he would spend the greater part of his time playing golf and that he was on the coast only for a vacation. He was accompanied by Joseph F. Conner, fire commissioner of Chicago; James T. Boyle and W. H. Luthardt, secretary to the mayor.

CORONER OUSTS DEPUTY DAVIS; CITES CHARGES

Deputy Coroner Samuel L. Davis, in charge of inquests at the county morgue for twenty-one years, was discharged last night by Coroner Oscar Wolf. In a letter to Davis the coroner cited attention to several cases, in which he said the deputy had not been impartial in his conduct or had failed to report serious charges made against county hospital authorities.

The coroner started an investigation into charges that needy applicants for medical attention at the hospital have been turned away to die in the streets. Deputy Coroner Davis presided over several inquests at which such accusations were made, it was said, but failed to inform his superior of the complaints.

In one such case, the coroner said,

William Battles, a Negro living at 2908 South State street, was discharged from the hospital, only to die twenty minutes later. Lobar pneumonia was the cause of death, according to Coroner's Physician William Foley.

Again, the coroner declared that a man 19 years old applied at the hospital Jan. 17. He was refused admittance on the ground that he was drunk. Four days later he died of pneumonia and the autopsy showed it is said, that he had been affected with pneumonia for at least a week.

In a third case, Albert Gilbert was picked up from the street by a silver squad. County hospital authorities said he was suffering from delirium tremens, according to the coroner, and he was taken to the psychopathic hospital. Discharged next day, he dropped dead on the steps of the hospital. Again, Dr. Foley found that pneumonia was the cause of death and the man had never had delirium tremens.

"In all these cases Deputy Davis presided over inquests and knew what was going on," Coroner Wolf said. "He was negligent of his duty when he failed to inform me of this evidence."

Then the coroner pointed to the case of Alex Witman, who died early in January. Dr. Foley's autopsy gave the cause of death as acute alcoholism and exposure. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict of chronic alcoholism. The coroner pointed out that the widow in this case could not collect accident insurance as she could have if the jury had followed the physician's report.

The last case cited by the coroner was that of another Negro, Harry Horton, shot to death by three policemen. Evidence showed the man had been shot while standing with his hands raised facing the policemen. A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned.

"Those policemen should have been charged with murder," the coroner asserted.

Doctors Prescribed It Long Before the Public Knew It

LONG before the general public knew the virtues and effectiveness of Gude's Pepto-Mangan, it was prescribed by hundreds of physicians to patients in need of a good tonic. Since its introduction to the public, doctors still prescribe it. The fact that it has had the confidence of the medical profession for over 33 years is the best proof that it is a quick and efficient iron tonic.

But Gude's Pepto-Mangan is more than an ordinary iron tonic, for with the iron there is scientifically combined manganese and predigested albumin, the value of which is well known to physicians.

Read what doctors write—then you will have fullest confidence in the prompt and undoubted tonic power of Gude's Pepto-Mangan. At all druggists in either liquid or tablet form.

What Doctors Write
"I have been prescribing Gude's Pepto-Mangan for quite a number of years. I have always found it a valuable tonic and the most palatable form in which iron and manganese can be administered. It has rendered it invaluable to me in my practice."
"I have had results in simple Anemia with Gude's Pepto-Mangan and am recommending it to all my patients."
"I have used it for 23 years with always the most favorable results."

With record sales of cash registers to keep pace with retail business

Can you think of a better index to a city's prosperity?

FROM time to time the Globe-Democrat has been telling you about the prosperity of business in St. Louis.... Of the new era of building activity.... Of the scope of industry..... Of the diversification of manufactures..... Of the stability of employment, and the general economic well-being of the people in this market.

But here, surely, is as striking a bit of testimony as we have ever been able to offer setting forth the business growth of St. Louis:

The sale of cash registers to merchants in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Here is the record of the St. Louis branch of the National Cash Register Company.

This branch, selling to St. Louis and St. Louis County, sold 120% of its sales quota during 1925, leading all other branch offices in the large cities throughout the nation!

Its October business was 324% of its quota for the month, following super-quota business throughout the year.

Now this record would indicate that St. Louis leads the nation in business prosperity. For these sales of cash registers were made to stores of all kinds—department stores, grocery stores, shoe stores, drug stores—stores throughout St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Sales to new customers and supplementary sales to old customers.

And every sale, remember, involved equipment essential to increasing retail business.... Devices for ringing up retail sales.... Devices for handling the money that is paid across the counter for merchandise.

And here is testimony from a man who is in position to analyze conditions in this market. He is F. R. Jennings, manager of the St. Louis branch of the N. C. R.

"St. Louis," he says, "has arrived, through steady, substantial growth, to take its place at the head of N. C. R. agencies throughout the world consistently from now on."

"The cash register business is considered a barometer of retail business throughout the country. Our sales experience and our contact in the St. Louis market have convinced us that St. Louis' prosperity is stable and far reaching, and destined to show greater and greater development."

There's a message for every sales manager and every advertising manager seeking profitable markets for cultivation.... The St. Louis market is one of the most conspicuous in the nation today, from the standpoint of selling possibilities.

You can establish a high quota for your St. Louis branch,.... with the expectation of having it exceeded.

And The Globe-Democrat, St. Louis' largest daily, with an unparalleled influence extending throughout The 49th State, offers the aid of its staff and its advertising influence in developing your business here.

We maintain a Service and Promotion Department and a Research Division which will be glad to assist you in establishing a profitable market for your merchandise in St. Louis and the 49th State. Ask any Globe-Democrat representative for the facts about St. Louis, or write us direct.

Two Visiting Notables Are Guests at Smart Affairs at Arts Club

BY NANCY R.

The Arts club has long been one of the smartest rendezvous for celebrities and visitors and our own citizens of distinction, but yesterday it stuck an extra feather in its cap when it entertained two notable guests in town.

At luncheon time, the party given by the Prince Paul of Greece by Mrs. J. Hamilton Lewis attracted much attention from various other members of the club and their guests. Mrs. Lewis, seated at the prince's right, and Mary Hamilton, looking awfully pretty in a gray satin frock and small maroon felt hat, was at his left. Peggy Hamilton, who has known the prince for some time, sat opposite him. She, too, wore a gray dress, and one that is unusually becoming to her ash blonde coloring. Among the other guests were Mrs. Charles Edward Brown, Mrs. J. Nelson Morris, and James MacVegh.

Then, later in the day, between four and half-past five, to be exact, the club was host to the duke of Treviso, with a reception committee that included the Countess Portera, the Augustus Peabody, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. J. B. Winterbottom, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Walter Borden, Mrs. Potter Palmer, these two delightful international sisters, Mrs. Shreve Badger and her debutante sister, Rue; Arthur Allen, Miss John Aldis; Mrs. Arthur Allen, and Robert Allerton.

The was served in the lounge, with great bowls of white roses, orchids, and needed for decoration, and during the afternoon a large number of the members drifted in for a word of greeting with the guest of the occasion. Among those I noticed talking and chatting—besides the receiving committee, who turned out most faithfully—were Mrs. William Prescott Hunt and her sister, Miss Marie Roset; Mrs. Arthur Brown, Miss Alice Bouillon, Miss Pauline Kearney, Mrs. Joseph Adams, Mrs. Joseph McRoberts, Miss Agnes Freeman, the Adolph Blum, the Harriet O. Ritz, Alfred Granger, and Anna Barthelme.

Day's News in Society

The Vassar club announces the opening of Vassar house tomorrow at 10 East Erie street, for luncheon, tea, and dinner. The profits will go to the Vassar scholarship fund, and after the completion of that, to other educational funds. Directors of the day are to serve as hostesses each day. This group includes Miss Dorothy Clark, Miss Ines Ridgway, Miss Sarah Bennett, Mrs. Godfrey von Platten, Mrs. Percival Hart, Mrs. Charles F. Kelley, Mrs. Philip Merrill, Mrs. William S. Livingston, Mrs. P. E. Coburn, Mrs. Donald Jeffries, Mrs. William Dow Harvey, Mrs. Andrew MacLeish, Mrs. Balfett W. Thomas, Mrs. Arthur D. Nelson, and Mrs. Daniel H. Burnham.

The Chicago branch of the English-speaking union will give its monthly meeting from 4 to 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Arts club. Miss Helen Fraser, an English writer and lecturer, is to be the guest and will speak on matters of international interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carson Waller and Miss Edith Walton place are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son at the Chicago hospital. The baby is the "Willow" brand. Mrs. Waller was in the hospital before her marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilder of Lake Forest and their son, Paul Jr., are to leave from New York next Tuesday for three months' stay abroad. They will start at Naples, and after sending their son to the Riviera will journey on to Paris about April 1.

Mrs. Walter Schuttler of 2855 Commonwealth avenue is to sail on Feb. 2 for the Mediterranean trip. Mr. Schuttler is to join her in April.

Winnetha Center of Infant Welfare Elects

Mrs. Morris K. Wilson, president of the Winnetha center of the infant welfare society of Chicago, announces the following officers for 1926: Mrs. George S. Parker, president; Mrs. Edith J. Bartlett, vice president; Mrs. Mary Blaine Jr., secretary; Mrs. Dwight F. Green, treasurer; Mrs. Morris Wilson, chairman of finance; Mrs. John R. Rothchild, chairman of sewing; Mrs. Gilbert Scorbner, chairman of visiting; Mrs. Harold Wilder, chairman of publicity.

Embarrassing Moments

Lightning Change.

My aunt had an old colonial home in a small town. The door had a vertical pane of glass pane on each side of it. It had only just moved in and there were in a mess. While waiting for the men folk to come home, I wanted to unpack dishes and glassware myself, and accordingly put on a pair of my husband's overalls and was bent over a good headway putting some small things into a small cabinet for the purpose that stood diagonally opposite the front door.

I heard a knock, and doctored around the corner hastily to slip off the blue overalls and put on a dress. One of the many ministers of the burg bowed himself rather smugly into the room, saying he wanted to be the first one to welcome us to his church.

When he left I happened to be outside the door cleaning the small cabinet pane of glass, and my daughter came into the cabinet into which I had put the blue-brass earlier in the day.

Then what made the man so smug? He had seen me before, I thought he was there, and the lightning change must have amused him immensely.

Bright Sayings of the Children

For lunch, Helen's mother had given her vegetable soup made of seven or eight different vegetables. Helen ate a while, and then said, "Mother, this soup has too many groceries in it."

One afternoon, accompanied by Harriet, my three-year-old daughter, I was calling upon a friend whose father entertained us by playing his violin. When he had finished, Harriet, after drawing a long sigh, exclaimed, "My, that was the nicest noise I ever heard!"

The musician said that was the most sincere compliment he had ever received.

Woman Explorer Calls Getting Home Best Part of Trip

She is the first white woman ever to have penetrated the Libyan desert to the oasis of Kufra.

But the happiest moment of that sensational trip was not, Miss Rosta Forbes, the British explorer, last night explained at dinner at the Cliff Dwellers, when she, posing as an Arab woman, entered the famous town built on vermillion sands. Rather, the happiest feeling in going to Kufra was the knowledge that she was home again.

"We had journeyed seventeen days through the desert on the way north from Kufra," said Miss Forbes (she is the wife of Col. Arthur McGrath); "the camels had gone twelve days, the record, I believe, without water; we hadn't washed in seventeen days; one of the leaders of the expedition had broken his collar bone, and I was starting out, at night, to try to make a settlement which I thought was near at hand."

"Suddenly, over the ridge of sand, I heard a man whistling 'Britannia Rules the Waves.' It was the British patrol sent out to escort us to Egypt. We sat up all that night eating sausage and smoking the first cigarettes in five months. That was the happiest moment of the journey."

Miss Forbes, whose exploits won the recognition of King George and medals from a score of scientific organizations, gave a tip to all future explorers when she told of her getaway, at the beginning of the trip, from a hostile camp of spies. The Englishwoman invited her enemies over to coffee one night. Into that coffee she was careful to have put a bit of powdered opium.

The guests fell asleep on the floor of her dining room, she slipped away and met the camels, hidden in a tomb, and the caravan was on its way.

Miss Forbes speaks this evening at Orchestra hall under the auspices of the National Geographic society.

N., to Howard Nowell Tucker Jr., of Eureka, Kans., last night. Society was still further interested to know that the wedding will take place at noon tomorrow. After a short wedding trip the bride and bridegroom will go to Eureka to visit the bridegroom's family.

Once More Our Suits Get the Boyish Bob

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Once more we are getting into our boyish suits. That little boyish jacket so much in vogue several seasons ago has been overlooked to some extent during recent months, but the southern season is doing much to resuscitate it.

Here is a charming example of the little boyish suit which would fit into many occasions of our lives and which is especially recommended to the youthful and slim traveler. It is of beige kasha—incidentally, kasha is quite as smart as ever before—and much of its charm is created by the clever seaming of the coat. Here in these seams we find once more a whisper of the bolero which is so frequently enunciated in youthful modes.

The suit is worn with a white crepe blouse completed by a four in hand of brown and red. The skirt, made with the familiar inverted front plait, is held over the shoulders by suspenders of self-material. However, those who do not feel especially drawn to suspenders may well forego this detail and wear the simple waist-line length overbust.

This lady's costume represents all that attention to color assemblage which is today's standard of good dressing. That is to say, the brown necktie with its dots of red is echoed by a conspicuous brown bag with red galahat ornament. The hat is also of brown, and modish beige hose of hals are completed by one strap pumps of brown kid.

Foreigner Claims We Americans All Look Exactly Alike

A young oriental author of Shanghai, recently arrived in our midst, was asked the usual question and what was his thought of the American girl and her beauty.

"The women here," she answered, "all seem to dress alike, to look the same. I visited Hollywood when I was in California, where I had been told to believe I would see nothing but beautiful women in original creations in dress. But they all looked and dressed alike."

One coming from the orient must be struck by the uniformity of appearance among our women. Here and there are scattered a few clever persons who manage to stand out of the mob by sheer force of individuality. But generally speaking, from her cloched bonnet to her gaiters, the die is cast in a uniform mold.

We suppose this is largely due to the demise of the home made hat and the home made dress. For the departure of the former we have no tears to shed, and all things considered, which is the price of the dressmaker's services, the time spent matching up trimmings, and so on, we have few left for the home grown dress either. Unless one is skillful with the needle and can turn out as smartly lined a gown of better material for the cost of a manufactured one the time put upon it hardly justifies it. Needlework, not being one of our home trained arts as it used to be, the average young person appears to better advantage in a dress that may have a hundred copies.

In Hollywood a foreigner would be more forcibly struck with this uniformity of appearance than elsewhere, since the type of girl chosen for the screen is pretty much a standard one. She is almost of uniform height, uniform slenderness, and uniform general appearance.

However, the observation of the oriental author about the bearded head might not be so true as she came a few months later. What were disfigured rumors yesterday about a threatened return to the long haired coiffure begin to sound close to the ear each day.

We lack the courage to make a definite statement about it yet, but the signs are beginning to point that way.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MRS. H.: IF YOUR CHILD breathes through her mouth it would be advisable to have her examined by a nose and throat specialist. Adenoids may be the cause.

MRS. R.: FOR BRITTLE NAILS, insert cold cream under the finger tips before going to bed and allow it to remain there during the night. Or soak the finger tips in olive oil which has been slightly warmed for about 10 minutes each night.

Getting the Right Effect.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Looking at the knot in the tie on the young man in the illustration, you may have a feeling that the knot was out at that point when the artist was making his drawing. But I hasten to assure you that the artist left that knot that way, to show you what happens when you tie a striped tie that has a white or extremely light stripe so the light stripes come at the top of the knot.

Just as the drawing seems to be unfinished, so does one's neck in actual life when this knot spot is left at the top of the tie. Because, although, of course, the material is there, it does not show up, but blends into the white of the collar, so that the appearance is that there is no tie at that point.

To offset this, you must tie the tie in such a way that the dark stripes come at the top. This is assuming the cravat is one of those with stripes of about half an inch in width. In the case of extremely narrow stripes it doesn't matter what is at the top. In case of still wider stripes, in which the whole knot is of one color, it is even more important for the right effect that the dark stripe be in the knot.

Of course, it takes some trouble to make sure that the cravat is tied this way. But when one way is better than another, it is well worth the trouble to do it.

Here's a good color scheme for a dark blue suit: A shirt of white with blue stripes at wide intervals, collar to match, planned in dark blue and yellow stripes, overcoat of dark gray derby, and muffler of dark blue and yellow wide stripes.

J. F. FOSTER DIES; HEAD OF SO. PARK SYSTEM 45 YRS.

Won National Fame for His Public Enterprise.

J. F. Foster, general superintendent of the south park system for the last forty-five years, whose home was at 5201 South Park avenue, died in St. Luke's hospital yesterday after an illness of two months.

Mr. Foster was 74 years old. He had been eligible for retirement for several years, but so great was his interest in the new projects of the south park board that he continued working. He showed intense devotion to the program for improving the lake front on the south side.

Won National Fame.
As a park executive his fame was national. He was the originator of the small park, or neighborhood playground, idea. At the time of the World's Fair he collaborated with Daniel H. Burnham in the arrangements for the buildings, and at the close of the fair he was in charge of the restoration of Jackson park.

The late President Roosevelt, after inspecting the small parks built up by Mr. Foster, is quoted as saying that they were "the most significant municipal development in all history."

"Chicago has lost a wonderful servant and citizen," said President E. J. Kelly of the south park board in a telegram from Los Angeles last night.

Superintendent Foster served the south parks for many years and was faithful and efficient to the last.

Mr. Foster, a member of the board, said last night that he considered Mr. Foster's record the most remarkable of any public employee in Chicago.

Credited with Great Work.
"He was a wonderful executive, a man of tremendous industry and rugged honesty," he declared. "Many of the plaques which were given the south park board for its work were really due to him alone. He was in charge of the improvement of Grant park and the other great works on the south side. Many times the board took his recommendations without discussion."

Mr. Foster's service with the south park system extended over forty-five years. He was kept in his position through many changes of administration. He was actively at work until his last illness.

A widow and one daughter, Mrs. Harold Abbott of Beverly Hills, survive. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the Pilgrim Congregational church, 64th street and Harvard avenue.

ALUMINUM CASE INQUIRY ENDED BY COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—The senate judiciary committee today suddenly closed its inquiry into the question whether the department of justice proceeded with due diligence in its investigation of the Aluminum Company of America. Mont. J. pro-secutor of the inquiry, announced that he would present his report to the committee next Monday with a view to early presentation to the senate.

Whether the committee will make any investigation of the company itself, in which Secretary Mellon is a stockholder, will depend on the action of the senate on the report.

He had been importuned to go into that phase of the situation, but this could not be done under the provisions of the senate resolution creating the committee.

Senator Walsh directed that Attorney General Sargent be asked if he had any other documents he wished to submit.

MOTHERS WITH FLORIDA FEVER DESERT GIRLS

Florida fever—the desire to roll up huge profits—caused two Chicago mothers to desert their small daughters and start south last week, according to a complaint made to the police yesterday by Owen Fanning, 3357 Nar-raganett avenue.

Mrs. Rose Fanning, his 27 year-old wife, is one of the pair. The other is Mrs. J. E. Dager, who roomed at the Fanning home. Fanning said that Mrs. Dager's husband recently sent her money and suggested that she take her 8 year old daughter, June, and join him in Florida.

Instead, the husband continued, Mrs. Dager persuaded Mrs. Fanning to bob her hair and go along. Fanning is unable to care for June Dager and his own 9 year old daughter, Elizabeth. He intends to send June to an institution and Elizabeth to the home of his brother in New York.

Senator Walsh directed that Attorney General Sargent be asked if he had any other documents he wished to submit.

FLORIDA

Development Now
Swinging to the West Coast

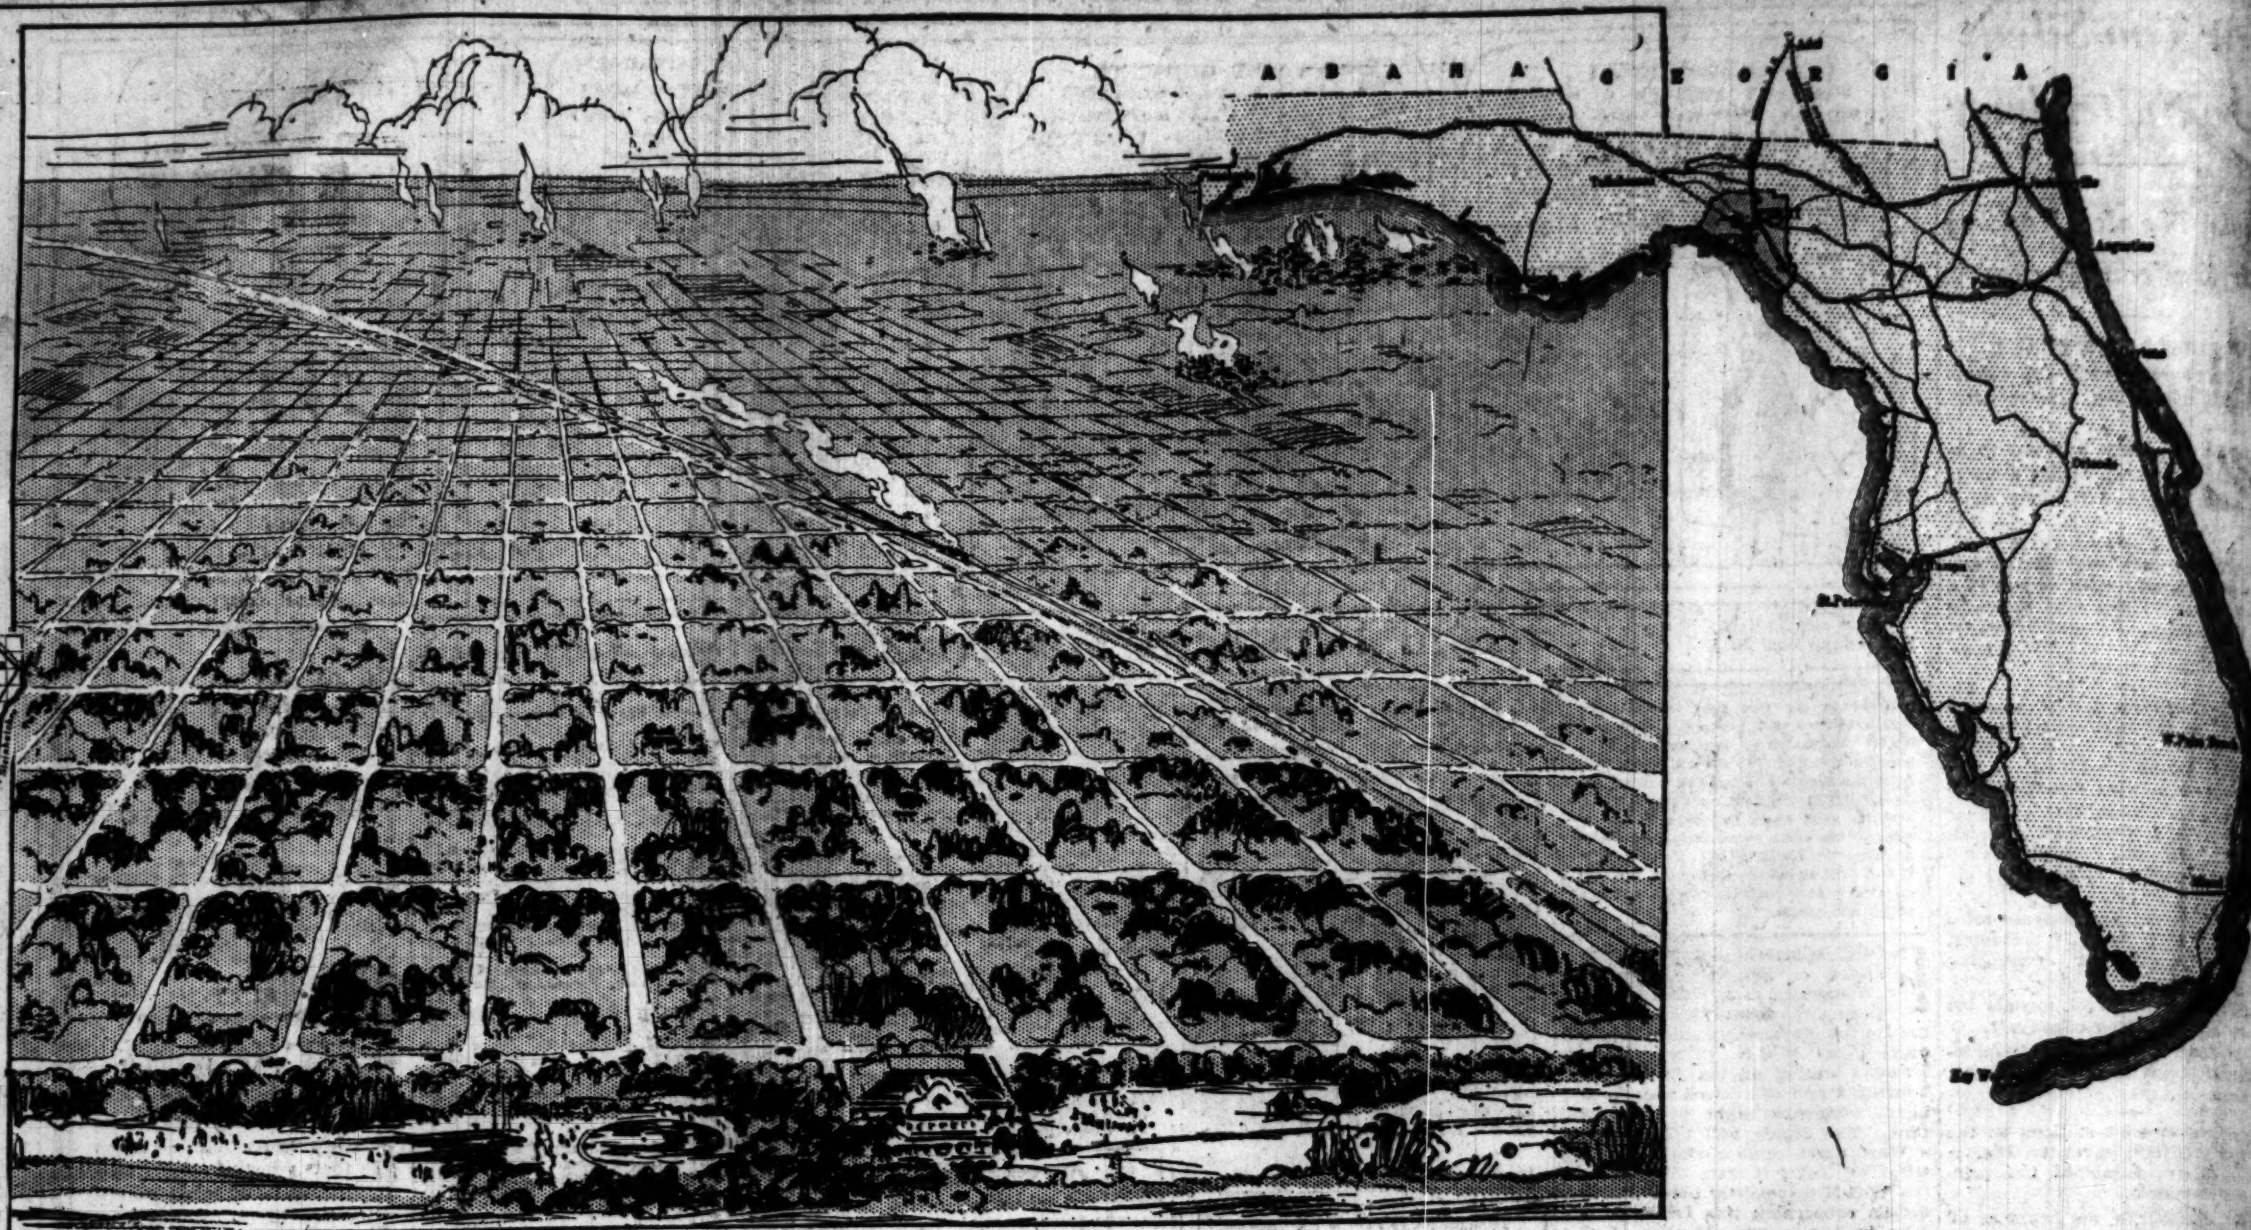

Prosperity and rising values follow the Railroads and Highways.

New railroads and paved highways are linking this rich productive country surrounding Hampton Springs to world markets.

Outside capital is pouring in.

Tremendous resources and investment opportunities are open to the far-sighted.

Home-seekers and investors are turning to the Big Developments on the Gulf Coast—where the Greater Profits Are.

Sensational Advance Sale of Lots in HAMPTON SPRINGS FLORIDA'S FAMOUS HEALTH RESORT

As the initial step toward what promises to be one of the greatest and most far-reaching land and industrial development projects ever undertaken in Florida, a limited number of choice residential and business lots in Hampton Springs are now being offered for sale. There is a wide range of prices, some as low as $150. Warranty deed and guarantee of title with each lot.

Only those who have knowledge of the tremendous possibilities of the Upper Gulf Coast region, or those who have been at Hampton Springs and have been guests at the magnificent Hotel Hampton can appreciate the true significance of this announcement.

Wonderful Curative Powers of Hampton Springs Water

Until quite recently few northerners had ever heard of Hampton Springs. Much less did they know that here are located mineral springs, the curative powers of whose waters are unsurpassed anywhere on the American Continent. For more than forty years physicians of the Southern States have been sending their patients suffering from rheumatism, stomach troubles and other chronic ailments to Hampton Springs to get the benefits of these wonderful health-giving waters.

What Waters Will Do

Hampton Spring Water persistently used for a reasonable time has in thousands of cases removed every trace of Rheumatism. It is guaranteed to give satisfactory results in combating this universal and stubborn, painful malady; also in acute or chronic Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Stomach, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Gastritis and Skin Diseases. All claims made for Hampton Springs Water are backed by the strong money-back guarantee of the Hampton Springs Company, owners of Hotel Hampton, whose financial responsibility is vouched for by the National Bank of Perry, Florida, and Quitman, Georgia.

Railroad President Praises Water

J. W. Oglesby, President South Georgia Railways, says: "I was first attracted to Hampton Springs by the remarkable curative effects of the water. From boyhood I suffered with muscular rheumatism and the water permanently cured me. I personally know that it either benefits or cures the complaints for which it is recommended. I have seen many people go there on cots and crutches, especially rheumatics, and in a short time leave the springs healthy and happy. I have seen people go there with distressing stomach disorders and in a few days comfortably retain solid foods. It does everything that is claimed for it as regards skin diseases. So far as I know it is the only mineral water in the world carrying such a strong guarantee." This health feature alone would even under conditions more than justify the health seeker in building a home in Beautiful Hampton Springs, but there will be no special inducement to the investor looking for 100% over-night profit.

Buy Now Before Prices Soar

Today conditions are far from ordinary. Hampton Springs is undergoing a mighty change. It has now emerged from its sleepy past and is assuming the bustling activities of other Florida centers which have made such phenomenal growth in the past two years.

The Florida boom is unprecedented in American history. Owing to frenzied speculation, land values in certain sections of the state have reached the peak and there is little chance of a further advancement.

The pendulum is now on the westward swing. Hampton Springs lies directly in its path. The Upper Gulf Coast country is now coming into its own. Right now it requires no fortunes to make a profitable investment.

Share in These Big Profits

You can now share in the great prosperity that is coming to this most favored section of all Florida. Whether you wish to build now or later, or buy with the intention of selling later at an advanced price, your purchase of one or more lots at the present low prices should prove a highly profitable investment.

Permanent Development

Wherever development of a permanent character has been undertaken in Florida, land values have soared to almost incredible heights in an amazingly short time. It is idle to speculate on how soon Hampton Springs lots will take a sudden upward jump or how high they will go. Those who are on the ground and have studied existing conditions and who know what has happened under similar conditions in sections with fewer natural advantages, predict that these lots will double or treble in value in less than a year.

Destiny has marked Hampton Springs to be one of Florida's most important cities. Its fame as a health resort is permanently established. It is yearly attracting constantly increasing numbers of health seekers.

Unlimited Agricultural Possibilities

Look at the map adjoining. Note that Hampton Springs is located a short distance from the Gulf Coast. A hard-surfaced road is now under construction direct from Hampton Springs to the Gulf. It is situated in Taylor County which, agriculturally, is one of the richest in the state. This section is well adapted to the raising of practically all of the crops grown in the temperate zone and a wide variety of semi-tropical plants. That means virtually every crop that can be grown anywhere, except the hard grains that require a cold climate. There are 365 growing days in the year. Fruit, truck and staple crops yield from $150 to $1,000 an acre. Additional thousands of these fertile acres will soon be available for cultivation.

Transportation the Forerunner of Development

The Florida East Coast Railroad made possible this development of Florida's Atlantic Seaboard. Lack of adequate transportation alone has kept the Gulf Coast region in the background.

That day is now past. Hampton Springs is already served by two railroads and a third, affording a direct route to the north, is now under construction.

The system of state highways (three now in Taylor County) is to be augmented by a new West Coast Scenic Highway from Tallahassee to Tampa which will take thousands of tourists through this section. The New West Coast Railroad will cut off about 200 miles of travel in reaching points on the West Coast, and will do for the West Coast what the Florida East Coast Railroad did for the East Coast.

There has been considerable talk of the railroad shops being located near Hampton Springs, and although no definite announcement has been made, it is beyond a doubt the logical location.

Lay Foundation for Real Prosperity

—Now

There is no time to lose if you wish to take advantage of this great Advance Lot Sale in Hampton Springs. The conditions are so ideal and the promise of near-future rise in value so sure that shrewd investors will quickly avail themselves of this remarkable opportunity.

Why not you? You have been dreaming of your home in Florida. The location for that home is now ready for you—at a price you can easily afford to pay.

Life's Greatest Pleasures—Here

In this delightful section of Florida you enjoy life to the fullest. All outdoors invites you. It is a land of sunshine and flowers, of green hillsides, shimmering streams and sparkling lakes. You drive along glassy, smooth highways arched with giant trees, festooned with Spanish moss. You catch the sweet odor of the pines and, as you near the gulf, you are greeted with the sensual tang of the sea breeze. A gently rolling country of peaceful scenic beauty. A climate such as can be possible nowhere else in all Florida. And sports! Golf? A sporty course at the big hotel. Tennis. Horseback riding. Woods that are full of game. Streams abounding in fish. Deep sea fishing in the Gulf where, too, you can enjoy the finest swimming the year 'round. So let Hampton Springs be the site of your home in Florida. If ailing, there you will regain your health and strength. Or if you have moderate funds to invest where prospects for large and quick profits are brighter than anywhere else in Florida today, buy one or more of these lots—now.

HELEN UPSETS NO. 2 STAR OF FRENCH TENNIS

Last of the Lenglen
Rivals Beaten.

BY DON SKENE.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
CANNES, France, Jan. 25.—Helen Wills passed the first big test of her French invasion today, but did not show anything to cause her arch rival, Suzanne Lenglen, a sleepless night. The American champion won the final in the Metropole tournament, beating the Didi Vlasto, ranking second in France's list, in straight sets, 6-3, 7-5. Helen and Didi last met on the blazing hot courts at Colombes in the 1924 Olympics, where the Californian won by the same score in straight sets. Today the pair clashed on the soggy, red clay courts here when a sudden sunshine appeared, allowing the play to be resumed after an interruption because of a rainstorm. A large crowd of society folk of many nations watched Miss Wills repeat her Olympic triumph.

Helen Takes the Lead.
The American won the first service, allowing Miss Vlasto only two points. The Californian champion then broke through Miss Vlasto's old fashioned underhand service and took the second game after a hard battle, wherein the score was four times deuce. Miss Wills won the third game, winning a service which she saved. Helen's court ball service, allowing the Yankee girl but one point in the game. Standing far behind the baseline, Miss Vlasto served and won the fourth game after Helen made two points. Miss Wills won the fifth and Miss Vlasto the sixth. With the score tied, three all, Miss Wills launched a slashing attack, taking the next three games and the set.

The rain soaked courts kept Helen from showing the great game she plays on the sun baked cement or asphalt courts in California. The ball seemed low and deceptively, hand-springing her usual smashing forehand drive. Miss Vlasto kept drilling continually against the American backhand in order to keep the Californian from using her whistling forehand drive, but Helen, decisively won the backhand duel.

Mud Covers Courts.
After the first set the sticky clay courts, plowed up by the footprints, resembled a polo field cut to ribbons by hard fought chukkers. The ball sometimes bounced so low when it hit the rough mounds or holes in the clay, turned up by the players' sliding feet.

In the second set Miss Vlasto took the lead, winning the first game on her own service after twice being deuce. Miss Wills won the second after three being deuce. Miss Vlasto regained the lead, 2-1, and then Miss Wills led the score, two all. The American girl took the lead, 3-2, but Miss Vlasto, fighting stubbornly, broke through Helen's service and tied the score.

Miss Vlasto won her own service and then again broke through the American's service, getting a lead of 4-3. The spectators were prepared to see Miss Wills lose her first Riviera match, but the American staged a superb rally and won four straight games, taking the set, 7-5.

After the match, Miss Vlasto, tired and gasping, hastened to the Hotel Metropole bar, where she took a stiff drink of gin, while Miss Wills joined her mother for her usual glass of mineral water.

After the match, Miss Vlasto told THE TRIBUNE correspondent that Miss Wills does not compare with Suzanne Lenglen.

"I have played them both, and do not think Miss Wills has the slightest chance to win even a set against Suzanne," said Miss Vlasto. "When I say Suzanne I am as helpless as a child against her wonderful skill, but I think I can give Miss Wills a pretty hard fight, as the match today showed."

Miss Wills' showing today sent the betting odds soaring in favor of Miss Wills for her big match against the American. A Cannes tinsmith and barman received an offer of even money for Miss Lenglen beats Miss Wills in straight sets, or Miss Lenglen to win in any odds.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY DON MAXWELL.
(Sports Editor of The Tribune.)
When John McGraw came to town in the old days the reporters referred to him as "The Master Mind." Now when he comes to town they call him "The Real Estate Man." That's what Florida did for John McGraw.

Chicagoans' attendance at sport events Sunday approximated a record. The Tribune's Silver Slacks Derby led with a crowd estimated at 50,000. The ski meet at Palos Hills drew 35,000—some say it as high as 38,000. In addition there was an ice meet in the evening, an ice carnival at Lake Geneva in the afternoon, and soccer and basketball games. Conservative figures find more than 100,000 folk witnessing sporting events during the day.

If Helen Wills plays Suzanne Lenglen it'll be a battle of the eyesight against the bandage.

Red Grange still is drawing thousands through the turnstiles of the gridiron. And the remarkable part of it is that he isn't playing remarkable football. How long he will continue to cash in on the value of a reputation doesn't interest us. The thing that does strike us as interesting in the barnstorming of the Grange menage is how little Joe Sternaman keeps playing brilliant ball. Unheralded in any degree approaching Grange, Sternaman consistently plays great football, so great that when George Wilson, the coast's all-American, was asked what he thought of Grange he admitted Red was good, but said that if he had to pick a man for his team he'd choose little Joe Sternaman.

There's a wholesomeness about intercollegiate sport that is inspiring. If you don't believe it, visit Patten gym some evening and watch a basketball game. Three thousand young folks, healthy, happy, and peppy, put something into the atmosphere that's difficult to describe, but easy to feel. They cheer and they sing, they moan and they groan. They do it unconsciously and they do it with spirit.

It requires a cruel, flesh twisting, bone crushing blow to bring forth applause from a thrill hardened crowd at a wrestling match. It requires a knockout, and a bloody punch to set the fans on fire at a fight.

But send ten young fellows out on a basketball floor to run until they pant, to twist and to turn, to spring up and to crouch down with the speed of a mechanical jumping jack; put three or four thousand young folks on the bleachers to cheer them and to taunt

MCGRAW HERE TO TALK S. A. TOUR WITH COMISKEY

Says He Is Not Ready to Quit Game.

John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants and prominent realty dealer of Sarasota, Fla., arrived in Chicago yesterday. It was apparent he was here mainly on real estate business but he intended to see some of his friends that before leaving he expects to talk with Charles A. Comiskey about the proposed tour of White Sox and Giants to South America next fall.

"I am for that trip," McGraw stated to an interviewer, "and there is every reason to believe it will be made. Mr. Comiskey and myself already have drafted plans for the tour and I hope to see him about it again before leaving."

Upon his return last week from California, Mr. Comiskey stated that he was for such a tour even if he had to make it in his motor car. The White Sox and Giants have spread baseball pretty well over the world with their trip around the earth in 1913-14 and their recent tour of Europe in the fall of 1924, but they feel their missionary work in behalf of the game will not be complete without introducing it in the land of the pampas.

Stories were circulated recently that the New York Giants would pass into new hands before the opening of another season—that Charles Stoneham, John McGraw, and Francis McQuade, who own most of the stock, would sell.

Regarding this, McGraw stated yesterday in an interview that he did not contemplate retiring from the game at this time and was going ahead with plans for the coming season just the same as he always has done.

From the office of Commissioner Landis, came the announcement yesterday that Homer Blankenship has been reinstated and is now on the eligible list of White Sox players. John McGraw, a brother of Ted, who last year developed into one of the best pitchers in the American league. The brothers were both with the Sox four years ago, but Homer was sent out to experience and apparently decided to get with outlaw teams, for which reason he was declared ineligible. The commissioner found that Homer has been a good boy for a long time, keeping away from all ineligible players, so gave him a chance to come back into organized ball.

Another former White Sox recruit, Fred Bratchi, was reinstated by the commissioner and declared a free agent. He was placed on the general ineligible list at the request of the White Sox club.

Tex Claims Backing of Paddy Says New Yorker
Rich Chicagoans. Can't Come In.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, Jan. 25.—(Special.)—Having placed New York on synthetic ice, Mr. Tex Rickard, the big cauliflower man, will go to Chicago with a number of his friends to see if they can get a permit to build a big ice arena and a local Chicago promoter, will be the builder of the Chicago hockey arena and general duplicate of New York's new Garden.

Of course, Rickard is not the only one who will be in the loop. Then Paddy Harmon started to talk last night when informed of the story that Rickard was coming to Chicago to build a big ice arena and a local Chicago promoter, will be the builder of the Chicago hockey arena and general duplicate of New York's new Garden.

Tex Rickard, the big cauliflower man, will go to Chicago with a number of his friends to see if they can get a permit to build a big ice arena and a local Chicago promoter, will be the builder of the Chicago hockey arena and general duplicate of New York's new Garden.

Of course, Rickard is not the only one who will be in the loop. Then Paddy Harmon started to talk last night when informed of the story that Rickard was coming to Chicago to build a big ice arena and a local Chicago promoter, will be the builder of the Chicago hockey arena and general duplicate of New York's new Garden.

Estimates cost at $4,000,000.
Rickard estimates the cost of Chicago's garden, or amphitheater, or whatever the name may be, at about $4,000,000, and claims the money already has been subscribed by a number of sports young Chicago financiers of elegant social standing. No newly rich bootlegger will be allowed to invest in the firm, for it is understood each subscriber will be required to put a test with the salad fork and to prove his father before him never wore red flannels.

However, it is announced the sports young financiers of elegant social standing have just as much political influence in the Chicago scheme as the most influential bootleggers in town. They have their site in mind in the loop.

Claims Hockey League Franchise.
The present plan emphasizes ice hockey as the major sport in the new amphitheater, and it is understood Rickard's new firm has been assured the Chicago franchise in the National Hockey league. Rickard would tell you, if you should ask about it, he will not take any interest in the prize fight business in Chicago, intending to take the cauliflower franchise for the building to some local promoter. This may be taken with a forkful of roast pork or Long Island duckling, however, for it is what is known as the apple sauce. If the cauliflower embargo is lifted here and there, get a permit from the council? If the can, I would be ready to back right out.

"We are not going to fear Mr. Rickard's coming into this city with an arena. We are going right ahead with our plans and have an appointment now with the building commission to talk matters over. You know one has to get a permit from the city council to build such an arena in Chicago. Does Tex Rickard think he can come right in here and get a permit from the council? If the can, I would be ready to back right out."

DAILY FEE CLUB BACKS SALE OF 50¢ GOLF BALL

New Sphere Will Be Called
"Da-fee."

BY MORROW KRUM.
It will be called the "Da-fee" and will sell for fifty cents and will be the official golf ball of the Chicago Daily Fee golf association.

The ball was the result of a meeting in a private dining room of the Palmer house last night of the directors of the golf association. They voted to back its manufacture and sale. It is intended to fit not only the pocketbook of the average golfer but also fit the onslaughts of his rivals.

Rank with Expensive Balls.
Because of the restriction on free advertising, it is not possible to mention the name that the "Da-fee" were last year, but the new golf ball holder promise, it is said, of fairway wanderings that will compete with the more expensive balls. At least the directors of the daily fee association think so.

The "Da-fee" will be distinctive. It will be contained in a box that is adorned with advertising. The daily fee associations profit will be just enough to cover the expense of handling the ball.

"We know it is a good ball," said Dr. Francis J. Buss, president of the organization. "We believe the golfers will agree." A similar statement was made by Arthur Ahearn, chairman of the golf ball committee.

Vote Booth at Show.
The association also decided to purchase a booth at the National Golf show, which opens in the American Exposition palace on April 6.

Arthur R. Harrison of the Briarcliff Golf club has been appointed to fill the vacancy in the executive committee of the Chicago District Golf association caused by the death of John T. Ling.

Northwestern last night broke into the win column of the Big Ten basketball race by trouncing Iowa, 37 to 21, after leading all through a game that was slowed up by the referee's whistle for fouls both personal and technical. The Wildcats play was not as polished as in some of those games they lost, but it was better than that of Sam Barry's Hawks, who never threatened the lead which White and Fisher, helped by Christman, acquired soon after play began.

Fisher with seven baskets and White, who got three field goals and nine free throws out of eleven chances, were at the helm of the Purple's attack.

Baker Held Scoreless.
Iowa evidently had solved Kent's system of feeding the ball to Moon Baker, for he kept McConeill and another Hawkeye covering the Northwestern ace. Baker got only two shots and those were unsuccessful.

White started the scoring with a couple of free throws and a basket, and the count at 4 to 0.

The Purple gradually pulled away and at half time was leading, 17 to 8. After the intermission, during which the band and a trio of tumblers provided a diversion for the crowd, Iowa scored three free throws, but Barney Marthwe was countered from the foul line after missing a free toss.

Stecher Pins Judson Twice in Mat Clash

Successful application of the body scissors gave Joe Stecher, one of the claimants of the world's heavyweight title, a victory over Frank Judson in the windup of the wrestling show at Dexter Park pavilion last night. Judson was counted from the Northwestern lineup and Harrison and Hogan from Iowa's.

In the first fall Judson was master of arm locks in 2:50. Stecher took the second in 7:50 with a body scissors, and the third and deciding fall by use of the same hold in 2:40.

In the first fall Judson was master of arm locks in 2:50. Stecher took the second in 7:50 with a body scissors, and the third and deciding fall by use of the same hold in 2:40.

After the men had been on the mat for seven minutes in the second fall Judson played an arm lock and Stecher clamped on the body scissors to pin Judson. In the last fall Judson again battled the champion hard and during one mixup Stecher fell out of the ring but got back, unassisted. Then Stecher knew Judson accidentally in the second match which went 42:30 to a draw. Joe flopped on top of him to win the fall with a body scissors.

In the semi-windup Renato Gardani and George Cline put up an uninteresting match which went 42:30 to a draw. At times it looked as if they were not trying.

John Freiberg defeated Jack Roberts in 15:30 with a flying mare followed by a cross body lock in the opening bout. Hans Steink won from Dan Kaloff in another one fall encounter in 15:25 with a crotch and half Nelson, while Jim London was the victor over George Hills in 6:55 with a reverse head lock.

WHEAT ERRATIC BUT DAY CLOSES WITH PRICES UP

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat market fluctuated erratically with a range of 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents with a break of 1 1/2 to a new low at 81.45 on the uncovering of spot orders, but aggressive commission buying absorbed the surplus in the pit and the close was about the top with net gains of 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents. The market closed at 81 1/2 to 81 3/4, with a high of 81 3/4 and a low of 81 1/2. The market was generally steady, with a few scattered orders, but no large movement. The market was generally steady, with a few scattered orders, but no large movement. The market was generally steady, with a few scattered orders, but no large movement.

Buying of wheat futures on the decline by buyers that have recently been in the market, and later, when short covering started, an overall condition was disclosed. The advance was easily absorbed. Visible supply decreased 1,025,000 bu for the week, or well in excess of what was expected, and had considerable influence, the total of 46,075,000 bu, compared with 47,100,000 bu last year. The decrease was largely in Buffalo stocks.

Producers of Argentine grain were reported abroad, but the effect of this on the local market was largely offset by the strong domestic situation. Cash wheat premiums were firm, with a good demand, both Kansas City and St. Louis showing up quickly on western, while at Minneapolis both winter and spring wheat were slow. There were reports of eastern buying at Winnipeg, where prices were 70 to 75 cents. Export wheat was only fair, with sales of 200,000 bu.

Corn Receipts Frequent.

Continued commission house selling made a decline of 1/2 to 1 cent early, but the market showed stubborn resistance to pressure, and with local buying the bid was at the top. An increase of 100,000 bu in the visible supply was larger than expected, but had little effect. Total in 1925-26, 1,000,000 bu, against 1,000,000 bu last year. Spot wheat was slow to arrive, and the movement was below normal for this season. Cash held within a range of 40 to 45 cents.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A decided change in sentiment was noted in some quarters yesterday regarding the future trend of wheat prices. Some of the local, who have been bullish for some time, were on the bear side, and a majority of the local element looked for lower prices. J. P. Griffin of J. & B. As a majority of traders now see the rally in wheat yesterday was due largely to short covering, which they believe has weakened the technical position, and unless there is a marked change in the trend of foreign market lower prices are looked for. A jump of 15¢ in hog values yesterday compared with different angles of Saturday's earned top light to 11.50 and the average to 11.40, both indicating highest in about four months. The average gained 25¢ over Saturday, standing that much above a week ago. Receipts at 43,000 were below all expectations and second smallest for Monday since early in November. The corresponding Monday a year ago, 88,154 arrived and the following Monday, Feb. 2, receipts totaled 101,087, the second largest on record. Shippers took over a third of yesterday's receipts and packers purchased freely leaving about 4,000 in the pens, being unusually small for Monday. Quality graded best of the season.

Practically all kinds of live stock ruled on an upgrade. Cattle receipts at 20,000 were second smallest for Monday since early in August, and sold actively at strong to 15¢ higher prices, which was a sharp contrast to conditions existing at the close of last week. Twelve 1,120 lb steers at 11.10 were the highest in nearly two weeks, being 25¢ above last week's peak. Top for load lots rested at 11.25 paid for 1,025 lb yearlings, with top prime BUSINESS: Independent Oil and Gas Company was incorporated in 1919 under the laws of the State of Delaware and is engaged principally in the production, refining and sale of petroleum and its products. As of November 30, 1925, the Company had full or part interest in producing leases totalling 8,105 acres, with 285 wells, 15 of which are producing gas only. There were 58 wells under process of drilling.

In May, 1925, the Company acquired a 1,200-barrel capacity skimming plant at Okmulgee, Oklahoma. More recently the Company entered into an agreement to purchase a refinery site immediately adjoining the present plant and pipe line mileage covering important oil-producing territories, and steel storage facilities.

The Company owns 100% of the outstanding capital stock of the Tri-County Gas Company, a public utility incorporated under the laws of Oklahoma in August, 1925. This Company is a gas transportation system owning and operating gas lands, pumping stations and other equipment used in connection with the production of natural gas.

OBLIGATION: These Notes will be the direct obligations of the Company constituting its only funded debt and will be protected by the covenants to be provided in the Indenture.

ASSETS: The consolidated balance sheet as of November 30, 1925, prepared by Messrs. Arthur Young & Company, Accountants and Auditors, shows net assets, including the proceeds of the present financing, after deducting all liabilities other than this issue, of $13,593,607 (including net current assets of $1,928,969), or over 4 1/2 times the principal amount of these Notes.

Messrs. Crandall & Osmond, Consulting Petroleum Engineers, New York City, appraise the fixed assets of the Company, as of November 30, 1925, based upon accepted and conservative valuation methods, at over $10,500,000, or over 3 1/2 times the principal amount of these Notes.

EARNINGS: During the three years and eleven months' period ended November 30, 1925 (figures for 1924 and eleven months ended November 30, 1925, as audited by Messrs. Arthur Young & Company—figures for prior years as reported by the Company), average annual earnings available for interest and Federal Taxes, after deducting depreciation and depletion, amounted to $1,135,798, or over 5 1/2 times the annual interest requirements on these Notes. For the eleven months ended November 30, 1925, such net earnings amounted to $2,546,397, equivalent to an annual rate of over fourteen times such interest requirements.

SINKING FUND: Beginning July 14, 1926, and semi-annually thereafter, the Company, as a Sinking Fund, will deliver to the Trustee, or deposit cash sufficient to redeem, $300,000 principal amount of Notes.

Can your bonds stand an influenza epidemic?

"I LIMIT my buying to western mortgages," said the bond buyer of a small insurance company. "I get a better return than I can on bonds."

"Suppose we get another 'flu' epidemic, and you need cash?" asked the Compton salesman.

"I'd sell," replied the buyer. The Compton representative suggested that he try to sell some of his western mortgages, in large blocks. The bids received were disappointing.

This buyer needed marketability; and now, with Compton help, he has it. He buys a fair proportion of municipals, industrials, rails and utilities, easily marketable, and with a sound geographical diversification.

Your needs are the first consideration of every Compton representative. The thirty-eight-year-old policy of this nationally known investment house is to serve you, to help you—for as you profit by Compton advice, you will certainly profit by making Compton purchases.

SEN

FRENCH DEMAND TO QUIZ PRINCE
ROCKS HUNGARY

See Plot to Make
German Kings.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

(Chicago Tribune Staff Service.)

BRUSSELS, Jan. 25.

Following Premier Briand's demand that the French ambassador should create a crisis in the French-German 30,000,000,000 franc for the plot. It is now a question of vast international consequences, diplomats of all nations are permitted to participate in the cross-examination of the plot. The Hungarians call this a violation of their national sovereignty. Other nobles, the state of police, a bishop, and other persons are involved.

The Hungarian government has recognized the seriousness of the situation by stopping a series of press. Editors are being arrested for any unfavorable discussion of

Premier Briand's

government officials were warned that they will be considered traitors to sign anything.

Refugees, Nationalists

Local journalists who have only assisted foreign newspapers were questioned today. No newspaper is able to give interviews to foreign reporters.

Reactionaries are making capital of the incident and insist on its sovereignty.
